

Dating Experts Reveal 5 Things You Need To Know About Men

On this week's Single in Stilettos relationship advice video, matchmaker Suzanne Oshima and dating expert Robert Manni reveal the five things women need to know about men when they're dating!

Dating Expert Reveals Relationship Advice: 5 Things You Need To Know

About Men

1. Men are sexually wired. They think about sex a lot. But, the dating experts say just because he thinks of it, doesn't mean that's his only intent.

2. What you see is what you get. Men say what they think and are straightforward. You can tell a lot by his demeanor, sense of humor, and how he dresses. Unless he's a player. The experts relationship advice is to sort through the players and genuine guys.

Related Link: Relationship Experts Talk Capturing His Attention \(in person!\)

3. Patronizing women. A lot of men tell women what they want to hear, with sex in mind. Women have to be careful and sort out if what they're hearing is true.

4. Men are driven by fear and ego. Men are competitive with each other and are ultimately loners. They don't confide in each other and are left to sort things out on their own. Men have a fear of losing rather than the desire to win.

Related Link: Expert Dating Advice: How to Make a Relationship and Love Work

5. Men want a solid relationship and love. They are looking for something reliable. Men want a woman who is attractive and a friend they can confide in.

For more relationship advice videos and additional information about Single in Stilettos shows, click here.

For more videos from CupidsPulse.com, check out our YouTube channel.

What do you think women need to know about men? Tell us in the comments below!