Jessica DeRubbo

August 2010 to Present

Senior Editor

In 2010, Jessica DeRubbo began working as a freelance contributor of celebrity news for CupidsPulse.com, where she was quickly promoted to the position of Associate Editor and finally Senior Editor. During her five years with the company, she has seen massive growth and has taken on increasing responsibility. As it stands, she coordinates all guest posts, movie reviews, celebrity news, and feature stories. Jessica has lived everywhere from Michigan to Ohio to New York to California to Texas. She graduated from Miami University of Ohio with a degree in Creative Writing, going on to pursue her Master's in Journalism from Syracuse University in New York. She spent a year in Los Angeles working at E! Network for their website and eventually ended up in Austin, TX working as a recruiter for a software company. Her favorite celebrity couple is Justin Timberlake and Jessica Biel, and she most enjoys reading about celebrity weddings. In her opinion, the best piece of relationship advice is to make sure you and your partner balance each other out.

Jessica's Expertise: Celebrity News, Celebrity Couples, Celebrity Divorce