Cupid's Advice:

You're about to choose a name for your child that they are most likely going to have for the rest of their life. You and your partner want to make sure that you find the perfect name. Cupid is here to help you figure out how:

1. Family honor: If you're like Kunis and Kutcher, there may be an important family member in your life that you want to honor by giving your child their name. It could be your family member's first, middle, or last name. Whatever name it may be, your child now lives on a family name that is significant and meaningful.

2. Inspiration: You could be inspired by something you and your partner both love, or something that associates with a positive memory. Did you get flowers on your first date? How about naming your daughter Rose or Lily? This inspiration gives you something you and your significant other both are happy with and leave you thinking of your good times together...a great legacy to leave with your newborn!

3. Common disinterest: Compromising on a name can start with finding names you both agree are not the best fit for your child. Eliminating specific names you both don't like will give you a narrower selection on names, and may push you towards a name that you could both agree on.
