Cupid's Advice:

Sometimes we encounter a person who we find both attractive and kind, but inevitably do not have the best chemistry with. These situations can be challenging because you may be reluctant to let go of someone when nothing is necessarily wrong, they are just not your perfect match. If you are looking for some ways to know that someone is right for you, Cupid has some advice for you:

1. Your bond feels natural: While it may not be love at first sight, creating a bond with someone should feel easy and natural if they are the right person for you. There may be awkward silences in conversations or mild miscommunications while you are getting to know someone, but the overall progression of the relationship should never feel forced.

2. You're progressing at the same pace: There is no set timeline that you need to follow when you are getting to know or dating someone new. However, the two of you should be progressing at relatively the same pace as the relationship continues. If one person is still holding back months into the relationship, it may be a sign they are not the right person for you.

3. You don't feel stressed: Your intuition is your best friend when starting a relationship with someone new. Sometimes we still feel stressed with things appearing to be going perfectly, which may be a result of some underlying factor you are avoiding. If the current situation you are in causes you to feel a constant low level of stress, it may be a sign that person is not your perfect match.
