What are some ways to be there for the one you love?

Cupid's Advice:

What you and your partner need the most out of a relationship is support. The two of you are a team, and you should be there for each other through thick and thin. The best thing about being committed to another person is the fact that you will always have someone you can lean on when situations get rough. Cupid has some tips:

1. Focus on what they need: Many couples often forget to zone in on what the other person needs. Instead, they tend to react in ways they think their significant other would like. Taking control of the relationship in this matter might cause your partner to feel unappreciated or unimportant. Don't assume things about each other. Ask one another about your needs and wants.

2. Be understanding: Everyone handles certain situations differently. Keep this in mind when you face a challenge with your significant other. Don't put pressure on your partner to do things the way you might think is best. Show your support and let them figure things out on their own. When your honey needs you, she/he will let you know.

3. Communicate: Always keep an open line of communication.

Offer your significant other useful advice during trying times. Express your feelings to one another during arguments. Let your words be the driving force in your relationship.
