

Chris Soules

 The hunky star of The Bachelor season 19 has changed the way women view farmers! Chris Soules was born in Arlington, Iowa on November 6, 1981. He was one of Andi Dorfman's final three men on The Bachelorette season 10, but she sent him home when she realized she couldn't see herself living in such a small town. Chris Soules then went on to appear on The Bachelor, and after getting to know 30 women on the reality TV show, he found love with Whitney Bischoff, a fertility nurse from Chicago, Illinois. The two announced their celebrity engagement in early March 2015, and Bischoff is already planning to relocate to Iowa. For now, the happy famous couple are living in Los Angeles while Soules appears on season 20 of Dancing with the Stars (where he's paired up with another W(h)itney – last season's champion, Witney Carson!).
