1. Make sure baby responsibilities are equally shared: One of the best ways to be a supportive partner after the birth of your baby is to make sure you're doing your part in the child rearing process. Don't make someone be the bad guy: It is very common in a couple that one will be the 'nice' parent, who lets their kids eat ice cream before dinner, while the other one is labeled the 'mean' parent, who enforces the rules and puts the kids in timeout. Rather than creating this tension, make sure to share the responsibility of who has to discipline the kids.

If possible, tell your family and friends the news about your pregnancy or engagement in person, or schedule to call them on Skype or FaceTime. The moment will feel even more special if you take that extra step.
