In celebrity baby news, Carrie Underwood and Mike Fischer are expecting their second child. What are some ways to prepare differently for a second child versus for your first?

Cupid's Advice:

As exciting as it can be having a second child, it is a little more calming. There are things you did with your first child that you probably won't do with your second. Cupid has some ways to prepare differently for your second child versus your first:

1. The registry: Whether you planned on having a second baby or not, carefully choose the items on your registry. If you have anything left over from your first child, it doesn't hurt to use it again. When making up the registry, pick the items you know you will use and/or need. Adding different items you didn't really use with your first baby will probably go unused with your second. This will save you money in the long run and you will have everything that you will need. You can never have too many diapers and wipes.

2. Make room: Time to make room for your new bundle of joy. It doesn't hurt to get a head start on arranging the sleeping arrangements. Planning ahead makes things so much easier rather than just waiting for the baby to come. Also with that, you can pretty much know what to expect in terms of where things will go. As exciting as it is to have a new baby, save some money on building a new room. Depending on the arrangements made, it may just be easier to keep the kids together.

3. Get some sleep: After your first child, you pick up on when you can get some rest. While with your first child, you probably ran every time you heard a coo or a cry, this time is different. Knowing what you know now will prepare you to be able to finally get some rest. Granted you will have two kids, but your other child will already have a set routine which helps.

Cupid's Advice:

While having a baby is a happy time, it can sometimes be stressful on a relationship. Cupid has some advice on how to strengthen your relationship prior to having a child:

1. Date night: Date night is a fun way to spend time together and remind each other just how much you care for each other. It will bring back those cute memories of when you first met, or that time you accidentally tripped and fell because you were nervous. Either way, this cute gesture is a stress-free activity to enjoy. This is your time together; spend it wisely.

2. Communication: Communication is one of the most essential tools when it comes to having a strong relationship. Communicating with your partner can literally make or break your relationship. If nothing else, make sure you communicate, because a simple misunderstanding can take a turn for the worse. On the positive side, it is good to know what's going on in your partner's world when you aren't around. You also don't want them to feel like you don't care, because ultimately, they will find someone else to talk to. We all know the saying, "If you won't, someone else will."

3. Listen: Listening is important; it shows your partner that you are there for them. Everybody wants to be heard, including you, so give each other that time. Having someone listen to you often gives validation that what you have to say is important, and sometimes people need that. More importantly, when you are in a relationship, you are supposed to also be a friend; what kind of friend would you be if you didn't listen?

They even went so far as to post side-by-side photos of the two on social media. Chung said, "There is no story here and I ask that the media no longer include me in any narrative that is incredibly disrespectful to the family."

In celebrity news, sometimes a rumor is just a rumor. What are some ways to slow down the rumor mill when it comes to your relationship?

Cupid's Advice:

Since social media is a primary mode of communication these days, it's easier than ever for rumors to circulate quickly. Cupid has some advice on how to slow down the rumor mill:

1. Communicate: If a rumor comes up, talk to the person who originated it directly. The worst thing you can do is start going back and forth on social media. The easiest and safest way is to ask questions first because once others get involved, you may do some permanent damage. The fighting on social media will surely keep that rumor mill going.

2. Put out a statement: This way of handling rumors may be celebrity couple-esque, but in all seriousness, depending on the rumor, you may want to address friends and family in a unified message. Consider making a cute, short and to the point post acknowledging the rumor, but informing everybody that it isn't true. If you don't face it head on, it could potentially spiral out of control.

3. Limit social media: This is the most obvious solution, but perhaps the most difficult. Many people want to show off gift and vacation pics, as it's a way of expressing their happiness. That being said, not everyone feels that way. If you limit what you post, you aren't leaving much room for people to talk about you.
