By Ma

rissa Donovan

The Scream Queen co-stars have called it quits after eight months of dating. Taylor Lautner and Billie Lourd started dating last December and posted many adorable photos together. According to EOnline.com, Lourd's uncle Todd Fisher shared that Lautner acted like a supportive husband while the family grieved over the loss of Lourd's mother Carrie Fisher and her grandmother Debbie Reynolds. Fans recently began questioning their celebrity couple status once Lautner was seen celebrating the Fourth of July solo. Lourd has recently deleted photos of their celebrity relationship on Instagram, while Lautner still has many photos on his account. No comments from the stars have been made addressing why they split.

It sounds like Lourd's family could be sad over this celebrity break-up. How can you share the news to your family about your recent break-up?

Cupid's Advice:

Revealing an update about your current love life to your family can be sometime be uncomfortable, especially when it's a break-up. Here are some tips on how to talk about your recent break-up to your family:

1. Be honest without oversharing: Let them know your side of the story without sugar coating any details. It's always good to be honest with your family because it will make them understand what you are going through! You are allowed to leave some minor details out, because some quirks in your relationship should be between you and your ex.

2. Advise your family on how to respond: Tell them how you would like them to act during this time. Their first reaction might be to be spiteful towards an ex. Advise them to be silent on the issue or optimistic about your future love life. This will set the overall tone on how they will respond to your break-up!

3. Ask them not to bring up past memories: Your family may have loved or hated your ex, but let them know right now is not the best time to recall past memories of the relationship. You probably have been overthinking your break-up as is, so having a family member put in their two cents doesn't help the situation. Ask them to not bring up your ex until you are ready to talk about old memories.

Celebrity News: Blac Chyna's Lawyer 'Considering All Legal Options' Against Rob Kardashian

By

After a slew of leaked texts, photos and videos, Blac Chyna's lawyer has released a statement claiming that they are "considering all legal options and resources at this time" against ex-fiancee Rob Kardashian. According to UsMagazine.com, Kardashian posted a number of explicit photos and videos, accusing Chyna of cheating and doing drugs. Kardashian's Instagram account eventually was shut down due to NSFW posts, but he continued to take to Twitter to rant. Kardashian and Chyna are parents to a 7-month-old baby girl, Dream.

In celebrity news, things are definitely not smooth sailing with this former couple. What are some ways to keep the drama out of your break-up?

Cupid's Advice:

Kardashian and Chyna have become some of the most dramatic people in Hollywood with their constant public fighting. If you're concerned about keeping drama out of your break-up, Cupid's got some advice:

1. Be civil and respectful: A huge reason behind Kardashian and Chyna's lack of civility is due to their disrespect toward one another. If you want a clean break-up, it's best to be polite and leave things on good terms. Being angry is part of the break-up process, but you don't need to constantly fight in the public eye or let everyone know about your problems.

2. Keep it off social media: This former couple is notorious for posting about their issues on social media, so take a cue from them and do the complete opposite! If you feel the need to vent about the break-up, talk to someone you trust. Don't want to talk to anyone? Write it down. Posting about your frustrations and anger is useless and will only create drama, in addition to making the break-up process even harder.

3. Don't talk to them: Although these two are co-parents, their communication (or lack thereof) definitely contributes to their problems. If possible, try to avoid talking to your ex. By continuing into a friendship immediately after the break-up, or even just regularly talking to each other, you're not allowing yourself to recover. If anything, you're making room for drama.

Cupid's Advice:

Rumors have a good way of changing what actually happened during the relationship. Check out some tips to put a stop to them:

1. Confront your ex or current partner: The first person you should go to is the person connected to the rumors. Tell them exactly what you heard being said. Hopefully this person can be mature and can put a stop to the rumor. If they are not responding to your hurt feelings, then move on to the people spreading the rumors.

2. Confront the sources: Speak to the rumor spreaders. Let them know your truth and share how this rumor is currently effecting your life. 3. Speak to those who ask: Instead of making a public statement on social media, tell people who confront you. If

1. Have an understand and positive mindset: Paranoia and jealousy often happen if a relationship didn't begin on good terms. Try understanding where the other person is coming from and set the tone. He confessed there was "no real saving or redemption to be done" and that ultimately he felt that their split was "for the best." Regardless, Higgins has hope for both of them, even if it's as individuals, instead of a celebrity couple and stated, "I am a better man today because of Lauren and because of our relationship."

This celebrity break-up proves that when a relationship becomes more work than pleasure, it's time to let go. What are some ways to know your relationship has run its course?

Cupid's Advice:

It can be tough to know when a relationship is really over, but here are the top three ways that you can be sure:

1. When you no longer see a future together: A good way to figure out if what you're experiencing is a rough patch or really the end is to analyze whether or not you can still imagine a future with your partner. Can you picture a time when realistically things get better and you as a couple move past whatever it is that's causing stress on your relationship? Or is this conflict destined to be a part of your relationship forever? Your answer can help you determine whether or not it's time to move forward or move on.

Related Link: Celebrity Break-Up: 'Bachelor' Stars Lauren Bushnell & Ben Higgins Split

2. When the love is gone: If you genuinely feel as if you've fallen out of love with your partner, then it's time to move on. If the thought of leaving provides you with more relief than you won't have to fake it any more than sadness, you can be sure that ending the relationship is the best thing for both of you. Don't try to force love or affection after a certain point. If you're not feeling it, you're just not. Let go.

3. When you feel trapped constantly: If your relationship has been reduced to nothing but a ball and chain around your ankle, think long and hard about whether or not you want it to continue. If you feel that the only thing your partner does is hold you back, consider the fact that you both might be able to go farther without each other. Sometimes the most loving thing you can do for another person is set them free knowing that both of you will actually be better off without one another, even if at first the split is painful.

Celebrity Break-Up: 'Bachelor' Stars Lauren Bushnell & Ben Higgins Split

By

Noelle Downey

In breaking celebrity news, there's an item that may have reality TV lovers less than enthused; The Bachelor alums Lauren Bushnell and Ben Higgins have officially called it quits. According to UsMagazine.com, the former celebrity couple celebrated their celebrity engagement during the finale of season 20 of The Bachelor and announced their celebrity break-up months later on May 15, 2017. "It is with heavy hearts that we announce our decision to go our separate ways," Bushnell and Higgins confessed in a statement to the press, "We feel fortunate for the time we had together, and will remain friends with much love and respect for one another. We wish nothing but the best for each other, and ask for your support and understanding at this time." Although the romance of their Hollywood relationship was well-documented on The Bachelor and on their follow-up show, Ben & Lauren: Happily Ever After? audiences also witnessed some tumultuous signs of trouble in the couple's celebrity relationship, especially when it was revealed that Higgins had also confessed his love to contestant Joelle Fletcher during the run of the show. Bushnell acknowledged this did not sit well with her in several celebrity interviews, sharing, "I did carry some resentment toward him. I will never understand. I will never be the Bachelor.”

This Bachelor couple has decided on a celebrity break-up. What are some ways to know you’ve done all you can to salvage your relationship?

Cupid’s Advice:

When it comes to working out a rocky relationship, things can get tricky, and sometimes it’s just time to call it quits. Here are Cupid’s top tips on how to know when it’s time to throw in the towel:

1. When you’ve tried talking it out... and failed: If you’ve sat down together, maybe even with a third party like a therapist, and honestly tried to work out your problems with little to no progress, that’s a serious sign that you may have reached the final hours of your relationship. Of course, working through your problems takes time and effort, but if you feel like you’ve really committed to spending time working on the problem and nothing has been changing or getting better, it may be time to take a step back and take a long, hard look at whether or not this is a relationship you feel you should stay in.

Related Link: ‘The Bachelor’ Celebrity Couple Lauren Bushnell & Ben Higgins’ Relationship ‘Ain’t Perfect’

2. When they’re in love with someone else: If you feel as if your partner has some serious feelings for someone other than yourself and they’re distracting them from being in a committed relationship with you, that’s a serious problem. If your partner is in love with someone else (assuming you’re in a monogamous relationship) that’s a major deterrent to the success of your relationship. It may be time to acknowledge that it's time to let go and let you both move on to something even better than what you have right now.

Related Link: Ben Higgins & Lauren Bushnell Butt Heads Over Televised Celebrity Wedding

3. When all that's left is fighting: Every couple has rough patches and seasons of their life together when they argue more than others. But if it seems that you two are constantly locked in a battle for the upper hand, and can't even spend any amount of time together without a big fight blowing up, it's time to call it quits. Let each other go, and let yourselves find someone else who you won't be in constant conflict with.

interactions down the line. What are some ways to deal with an ex who is purposely trying to hurt you post-break-up?

Delete your ex on social media – or if it's easier, just stay off Facebook, Twitter, and Instagram for a few days. Remember that your former partner can't hurt you if you're not in their line of fire.

Celebrity Break-Up: Demi Lovato & Guilherme 'Bomba' Vasconcelos Split

By

Noelle Downey

There's trouble in paradise for one celebrity couple this week! According to UsMagazine.com, Demi Lovato and MMA fighter boyfriend, Guilherme "Bomba" Vasconcelos, have officially called it quits. The celebrity exes first started seeing one another in July of last year, shortly after Lovato and long-time boyfriend Wilmer Valderrama had their celebrity break-up. Although Lovato and Vasconcelos were “just having fun” a source close to Lovato confessed, the two rekindled their Hollywood relationship in January of 2017 and have since been verbal on social media about their celebrity love story. Lovato gushed over her celebrity relationship to TV talk show host Ellen in April, saying, “I’m very happy. Life is really good.” So what happened to break apart this famous celebrity couple? A source close to the exes claims, “It wasn’t a dramatic split. Bomba is a good guy, but the relationship just ran its course.”

This relationship has ended up a celebrity break-up. What are some ways to know your relationship is done for good?

Cupid’s Advice:

Break-ups are never fun, but Cupid is here with the top tips on how to know when your relationship has officially run its course:

1. When the end feels inevitable: If you feel as though you’re just counting down the days until something snags and you guys finally have the final fight that leads to the demise of your couplehood, it may be already time to call it quits. Relationships generally shouldn’t feel like they have a looming expiration date, and if you feel as though any good times you have are constantly overshadowed with your gut-feeling that this relationship isn’t going to last, then you should trust your instincts.

2. When neither of you is upset: If you feel as though your relationship has deflated to the point that neither of you is particularly invested in it continuing, then do yourself both a favor and cut it off so you can go find something that really fills you both with passion. If you can broach the topic of your break-up without either of you feeling like you're really losing anything of value, then it's probably time to cut the cord and get on with your lives, separately.

3. When you feel consistently unhappy: If you're in a relationship where you feel as though you're always waiting for the "good time" and the moment when you'll really feel like you and your partner are clicking, then take a step back and consider why that is. It could be that your relationship isn't really what you want it to be, and that could be because of the person you're in that relationship with. Remember, you don't need to have a million reasons to leave someone, you just need one good one, and being consistently unhappy in your relationship is a great reason to call it quits permanently.

This celebrity news has us troubled. What are some ways to deal with a partner who gets into legal trouble?

Cupid's Advice:

There's no way around it, if you've ever had a partner or ex who got involved in some troubling illegal activities, that's bound to lead to tension in your relationship and in your lives. Here are Cupid's top tips on how to deal with a partner in legal trouble:

1. Consider the offense: Of course, when it comes to a brush with the law, there are varying degrees of legal offenses. You should react differently based on whether your partner has, for example, been caught planning and executing elaborate heists or shoplifting petty items at a drugstore. So first things first, when a partner gets involved in some kind of crime, stop and consider the offense. It's important to recognize the nuances of legality and while many crimes should give you serious pause about continuing the relationship, others may be something you can work through as a couple.

2. Make sure you and your children are safe: Of course, sometimes the answer is clear already. If a partner has been charged with violent tendencies, domestic abuse, or owning a violent weapon and you feel that you are in some kind of danger, act immediately. Go to the police and express your concerns, and then reach out to family and friends to help you through this difficult time, whether that be by staying at your place or opening their home to you so you have a place you can go where you can feel safe and secure. The first priority in situations like that should be making sure that you and any children you have are safe so that you can start re-building your lives without the negative influence of your ex.

3. Talk to your partner: If the situation is such that you are surprised by the alleged crimes your partner is accused of, try getting a moment to talk to them. Many times if the offense is not major, you will have the opportunity to pay bail and speak to your partner as a “free” individual once more. Have an open conversation with your partner and ask them why they did what they did. Be honest about how hurt and betrayed you feel by their dishonest actions and then figure out if there’s a way you can work through it together, if that’s what you want.

There are many factors that go into whether you're ready for marriage or not. So, what may lead to a rejection? Cupid's here to help with some relationship advice:

1. You've been questioning the relationship: You have to be fully committed to your relationship if you're even thinking about marriage. If you've been back and forth about how you feel about the person you're with, marriage is definitely not in the books for you two.

2. It's an apology proposal: You've seen movies... boy messes up, girl wants to leave him, boy feels bad and proposes, girl accepts and finally all is good with the world. Do not fall for this! If your significant other is only proposing to you because they messed up it's not a true proposal. It's just an easy fix.

1. You're picking fights with each other: Of course it's completely normal for couples to bicker – it would be weird if they didn't. But if you're aware of the fact that you and your partner are constantly picking fights with one another, you have to be aware that you feel the relationship is ending. You may be nudging at the idea that you want them to break up with you first rather than the other way around.

2. Your significant other is your source of stress: Life is already stressful as it is... why would you want your significant other to be your source of stress rather than a source of love?
