Cupid's Advice:

Having a competitive partner can be tough, especially if you're not into the whole "winning" shebang. If you've ever been in this situation, you probably know how hard it is to tolerate your boyfriend or girlfriend's competitive spirit. Cupid has some advice for easing off the stress:

Cupid's Advice:

You may not actually be interested in you partner's career, but that doesn't mean that you should pay it absolutely no attention. So listen up. Cupid has some advice:

1. Hear your partner out: If your companion is giving you a description of his or her job and what he or she likes or doesn't like about it, listen intently. Try to put yourself in his or her shoes. Understanding your partner is key.

2. Show interest: Occasionally ask about his or her career. This doesn't mean that you have to have a full blown conversation about your partner's job, but something as simple as "How was your day at work? Did you get _____ done the way you said you would?" can go a long way to show you care.

3. Help to prioritize: If you feel your partner is juggling between priorities and you notice that his or her career is being put on the back burner, step in and remind him what his career means to him. Be his support. He will see that you have his best interest at heart.

Shia LaBeouf Speaks Out About New Girlfriend Karolyn Pho

Shia LaBeouf's young relationship is already starting to blossom. UsMagazine.com reports that the Transformers star is beginning to expand his horizons thanks to his five-month relationship with girlfriend Karolyn Pho. "A cheese plate? That's a very 25-year-old deal," LaBeouf said in an interview with the Los Angeles Times. "I can get down with some fig jelly and some cheese on a cracker... [Karolyn's] having me try different things. I was scared of fish, 'cause of my upbringing, being Jewish. Gefilte can ruin your entire seafood life." Aside from broadening his eating horizons, the actor now admits his sprawl in February wasn't the most mature move. "I have no excuses. I'm not happy with it, but I don't think it's a calamity," he said.

What are some signs that your partner is beginning to mature?

Cupid's Advice:

A maturing partner is a good sign that your serious relationship is heading down the right path. Here are some telling signs that your partner is maturing:

1. Pleading guilty: It takes a bigger person to admit that he or she has made a mistake without trying to cover it up. If your partner does this, then that's a good sign.

2. Open communication: A good sign of a healthy partnership is how well you two can talk – whether it's about the weather, what you ate for lunch or personal issues. If it seems that no topic is off-limits, your partner is certainly maturing.

3. Family reunions: If your lover wants to show you off in front of his or her family, then there's a good possibility he or she is serious about you and the relationship, or at the minimum, they see a future.

2. Ready...set...go: Competition can be a great way to spend a double date. Go to a miniature golf course or jump into some go-carts. Or, even take a bartending class as couples together, and see which pair of you can make the best cocktail when all is said and done.

What things do you sacrifice by being in a relationship?

Cupid’s Advice:

Being in a happy relationship is one of the best possible feelings. However, it’s not without sacrifice:

1. Alone time: When you’re in a relationship, especially a serious one, it may be difficult for you to get some alone time. Taking a bubble bath is not nearly as soothing with your bored partner watching a TV show in the next room.

2. Time with your friends: While those who truly care won't mind the strain on your friendships, you may find yourself aggravated that you can't spend as much time with them. It is important not to spend all of your time with your partner, and to also make time for other people in your life.

3. Your privacy: Perhaps the most essential thing you sacrifice in a relationship is privacy, especially in cases where you and your partner live together. While over time the lack of privacy may not bother you, it takes some time to come to terms with it.

How do you know when to forgive and forget in a relationship?

Cupid's Advice:

Sometimes the best thing you can do in a relationship is to forget past faults and just push on. That said, sometimes something so bad has happened that it's just not possible. Cupid has some tips:

1. Trust: When something has happened in your relationship that causes you to lose trust in your partner, it can be tricky to know whether to move on alone or with your untrustworthy mate. At the very least, be skeptical. If your trust has been violated beyond repair, call it quits.

2. Minor fights: Most couples tend to get in the same fights about the same minor things over and over again. These are the types of arguments that you should forgive and the promptly forget. Decide whether the issue you're arguing about really makes or breaks your relationship. If it's not important, don't dwell on it.

3. Work it out: Just because you're offended by a fight that you got into with your partner, that doesn't mean it's cause for a split. If you're willing to talk things out (with or without a therapist), it's the logical first step. If you love your mate, it may be worth it to stick with the relationship to see where it can lead.

2. Have a cooking date: Food is such an important part of your health. Instead of going out to a restaurant on Friday night, why not try making a romantic evening out of preparing a homemade meal with your partner? Incorporate fresh, organic ingredients and sprinkle some love into your diet.

3. Work-out together: Fitness is a must when it comes to your health. Exercising together can be very motivating, so make your partner your gym buddy and start rocking that treadmill. How can owning a pet together enhance your relationship?

Cupid's Advice:

Sharing the unconditional love you receive from a pet with your significant other can make it even more special. Cupid has some ideas on why it's so great to own a furry friend with your mate:

- 2. Share the burden: When you experience a difficult situation with your pet, like Julianne Hough and Ryan Seacrest's emergency visit to the vet, it's easier when you and your partner can go through it together.
- 3. Love better: More than anything, animals teach us how to love unconditionally. You and your significant other can use lessons learned from your pet to strengthen your own relationship.

Cupid's Advice:

How you handle rumors can make or a break a relationship. Cupid has some tips on how to deal:

1. Hold strong: The best thing to do in a situation is to not let things get under your skin, no matter how severe they are. Rumors are meant to hurt you, and by defying the odds, you show those gossipers out there that they can't affect you and your relationship.

2. Preventative measures: Be careful who you talk to about your relationship. Sometimes it just takes one person to misinterpret something to start a rumor.

3. Address the situation: The best thing to do as a couple is to talk about each rumor that comes up and trust what your partner is saying. Without trust, the rumors will destroy you as a couple.

How do you prove you're nothing more than friends?

2. Go on dates: If you're going on dates with other people, it should squelch any romance rumors between you and your friend. If you're serious about someone, your most certainly not going out on dates with other people.

1. Go with it: In every relationship you have to pick your battles. If in the end, the decor really isn't that big a deal to you or is something you could get used to, it may not be worth it to pick a fight, especially if designing makes

What makes your man the "perfect lover"?

Cupid's Advice:

There may not be an absolutely perfect lover, but some couples mesh so well that it may seem that way. Cupid has some ways to know you've landed a good one:

1. Butterflies: If your stomach churns every time you're around him, and your mushy thoughts center around him when he's not there, it's definitely a good sign.

2. Sweet gestures: Your man buys you flowers “just because” and is thoughtful when it comes to things that count.

How do you make dating a coworker less risky?

Cupid's Advice:

Dating someone you work with is tricky to handle. Think of Jim and Pam from The Office, as they're a great example of the ideal way to handle yourself in the workplace with your partner. Cupid has a few things to keep in mind:

1. On the same level: Things can get messy if one of you is a superior or a manager. Not only does it give a bad image to others, but if you break up, it might be the ugliest one you've ever experienced.

2. Separation helps: Your interoffice relationship goes a lot smoother if you're in different departments. You'll be away from each other for most of the day, and it'll give you a little more to talk about when discussing work.

3. Say 'No' to PDA at work: It makes coworkers feel uncomfortable and is an HR seminar waiting to happen. Keep it at casual flirting and no real physical contact while on the clock.
