

Celebrity Wedding? Michael Cera Sparks Wedding Rumors with Gold Band

By Jessica Gomez

Making celebrity news is Michael Cera. According to EOnline.com, he was spotted over the weekend along side a woman named Nadine, both wearing gold bands. Is this celebrity couple married? Did we miss their celebrity wedding? And, according to UsMagazine.com, a source said that Cera is indeed now married. Cera keeps his personal life private, so of course his rep had no comment on the marriage speculations.

We're not sure if a celebrity wedding has happened or not in this case. What are some reasons to keep your wedding under wraps?

Cupid's Advice:

Some people are more private than others, and it may not make sense to open up your marriage to public scrutiny. Cupid has some reasons to keep it quiet:

1. You just don't want people in your biz: Some people are really private about their lives and want precious moments like these to be kept within closed doors at first, whether they're famous or not. So if you're on the end of not receiving wedding news, don't take offense. Some people are just real private about their business! And if you're the type of person that wants to keep things on the down-low, have no shame, it's your big day.

2. You're shy or an introvert: Shy and introverted people sometimes cannot handle being in a room full of people being the center of attention – it's too much for them. If this is the case, you may not want a lot of attention, so you would keep your wedding quiet for a bit. So yeah, it makes sense for you to keep your wedding quiet.

3. You're eloping: Secrecy is sometimes romantic? Sometimes we do find ourselves in a situation we never thought we would be in. Maybe the fam doesn't approve? Maybe you just can't wait to get married? Or maybe you're trying to get out of testifying in court against your lover like Blair did with Chuck in Gossip Girl! Winks

Celebrity News: Find Out Why Amy Schumer Is Not Changing Her Last Name Post-Marriage

By Jessica Gomez

In celebrity news, Amy Schumer is not taking her hubby's last name. According to UsMagazine.com, the comedian decided to not take Chris Fischer's last name sometime after their celebrity wedding last month. "I'm not Amy Fischer! Do you remember who Amy Fisher is? The Long Island Lolita. No, I'm keeping my last name. I'm keeping your last name," Schumer said after her new husband asked her if she was changing her last name. The conversation was posted on her Instagram story, which involved her father – seems Schumer keeps a joking mind for everything, even when it comes to the newlywed celebrity couple. According to UsMagazine.com, she was referring to Amy Fisher, a then-17-year-old who shot her lover Joey Buttafuoco's wife, Mary Jo Buttafuoco, in the face in Long Island in May 1992. Mary Jo survived and Amy Fisher was sentenced to five to 15 years in prison. After six years in prison, she was granted parole.

In celebrity news, Amy Schumer has decided against changing her last name to match her husband's. What are some things to consider before you change your name?

It just happens that way. Some people want to be traditional and take their spouses last name, others don't, while others are on the fence. For those of you who are undecided or are up to be swayed, here are options to consider before changing your last name to your spouse's in order to keep your identity and have your family name live on:

- 1. Consider all the paperwork: The paperwork process can possibly make you want to pull your hair out. It is extremely tedious. The process involves going to the Social Security Office and the DMV. You would also have to make lots of phone calls, and no, not to your friends and fam. You would have to call your credit card's companies and any other accounts you have open with your current name. This is not to scare you, just keep this in mind.

2. Consider adding their last name instead of just changing yours: Many people opt out for this option. Instead of completely changing their last name, they just meet somewhere in the middle and add their spouse's last name to theirs with a hyphen, or use their last name as a middle name and their partner's last name as that. This is a good option for people who are on the fence. Paperwork still has to be done of course, but if you don't care about it, then this may be for you.

3. Consider creating a new last name for the both of you: This could be a good option for couples who want to either be super fair or just hate both of their last names. This is something that can be made legal. Either both come up with a last name together or mix both of yours together somehow. And again, paperwork needs to get done for this and any type of changes in name.

Meghan Markle Gets Baptized at Chapel Royal at St. James Place Prior to Celebrity Wedding

By Jessica Gomez

In celebrity news, Meghan Markle was baptized at the Chapel Royal at St. James' Palace on Tuesday, according to UsMagazine.com. However, Markle's parents along with Prince William and Dutchess Kate were absent. Either way, we are cheering Markle on as she continues on the road to her royal life.

This royal celebrity couple is preparing for their big day, this time religiously. What are some ways to reconcile different religions when you're going to marry someone?

Cupid's Advice:

It's okay to have differences when in a relationship. However, certain differences take more of a toll on a couple than others. The commitment to different religions is one of them. Cupid has some tips on ways to handle a situation like this one:

1. Share your histories with one another: Besides helping you and your significant other to open up and know more about each other, sharing histories will help you see where the other is coming from. Discuss the religious and cultural pieces of your life with an open mind. Listen and share.

2. Respect each others beliefs: It is important that respect takes place always. Whether you agree with someone's religious views or not, you should show respect. The minute disrespecting takes place, a new problem is created beside the original one of difference in religion. Showing respect can even sometimes fix the problem, because you both feel safe and not attacked.

3. Face all issues that may arise: Do not just ignore any issues that develop due to different religious views. It is better to nip things in the butt before they get worse. Many religious people are serious about their beliefs, so it is best to face obstacles right on. Communicate effectively always. Listen to your partner, and discuss your point of view clearly as well.

Cupid's Advice:

The universe works in mysterious ways and sometimes two important people will come into your life all at once. It can be difficult to decide who you truly want to be with! Fortunately, Cupid has some tips on how to decide who to date:

1. Make a list: Yes, the old-fashioned pros and cons list. Sit down and deeply ponder what each of these people have to offer. How do they make you feel? Who do you get more excited to see? Do you have similar plans for the future? Take time to really think about it and you can even try to spend two consecutive days with each of them to explore the best qualities in each.

2. Stick to your instincts: Who do you feel more natural with? The best choice is the person who you can sit in silence with and still feel comfortable because your relationship just comes naturally. Be aware of these innate aspects. Also, try not to turn to multiple people for their opinions. Only you can determine what you truly desire. Listen to your heart.

best fit for you.

2. Consult your family: Perhaps you and your partner hold family closest to your hearts. If so, perhaps reaching out to them for some advice would be helpful. You certainly don't have to plan your wedding day around them, but working with them will help you keep peace of mind!

3. Singling out the days that don't work: If all else fails and you're still in a bind, start crossing out the days on the calendar that are absolute no-no's. If you're a busy professional, then your busiest month probably isn't the best choice for you. Big holidays might be other dates to avoid – unless you can get your save-the-dates out well enough in advance.

Royal Celebrity Couple News: William & Kate Will Host Harry & Meghan for the Holidays

By Rachel Sparks

With all this holiday cheer and celebrity wedding planing fun, what's more exciting than this royal celebrity news? According to UsMagazine.com, Prince Harry and Meghan Markle have a family-filled Christmas holiday. They'll start Christmas Eve with Queen Elizabeth II at her Sandringham House, then spend the rest of the holiday with Prince William and Duchess Kate as their official house guests. Slated with plans, they'll spend brunch-time at St. Mary Magdalene Church and enjoy a massive feast with two turkeys, a third bird being sent up to the nursery for the royal children.

Even celebrity couples celebrate the holidays with family. What are some ways to keep the drama out of your family reunion?

Cupid's Advice:

Let's be honest, not everyone likes their family. Holidays pressure us to spend time with our more distant relatives, but that only adds more stress. Snide comments, little jabs, and passing judgements end up hurting a lot of feelings and causes drama. Our relationship advice will get you through this holiday season with as little family drama as possible:

1. Be grateful: Not everyone can visit their families, so realize that, despite the drama, there are people who are envious of you and your family. No, your family isn't perfect. There's fights and screaming children and disappointed parents, but families are messy. Revel in the fact you have so many people around you who, at the end of the day, love you. That's a lot to appreciate.

2. Anticipate triggers: It's hard to remain cheerful when you know your brother is going to comment on your weight. Expecting these snide comments can help alleviate some of the frustration and anger when they do occur. You may be able to ignore these comments and just have a good time, and that is something that will drive your family crazy if they're wanting to push your buttons. Set a new trend: ignore jabs and experience joy.

3. Banish black-and-white thinking: We all want the holidays to be magnificent. We want our kids to have the same joyful memories we did, full of magic. We want to genuinely enjoy seeing our family and reconnecting with them. People don't always meet these expectations, accidents happen, fights break out, kids cry, and that holiday cheer you pictured isn't what's playing out. Put aside expectations and realize setbacks happen, but that doesn't mean the whole holiday is ruined. Don't dwell on the problems; instead, enjoy every moment for what it is.

Royal Celebrity Wedding: Prince Harry Asked Meghan Markle's Mom for Permission Before Engagement

By Rachel Sparks

The royal family is all about tradition, and Prince Harry is no exception. According to People.com, Prince Harry asked his fiancé's mother, Doria Ragland, her permission to marry Meghan Markle. Markle is very close to her mother, saying that she is both nurturing and fun. Prince Harry knew that Ragland's answer would have a huge impact on Markle. We're excited to see this celebrity wedding in a few months!

This royal celebrity wedding engagement came only after permission was granted. What are some benefits to asking your partner's parent for permission before an engagement?

Cupid's Advice:

Popping the question is full of nerves and excitement. There's the pressure to do everything right and make sure it's perfect because it sets the tone for your future as a couple for the rest of your lives. However you plan your engagement and wedding speaks to who you are as a couple, so sometimes we may want to forgo traditions. There are benefits to sticking with the old practices. Here's Cupid's relationship advice to guide you through your wedding season:

1. Respect: You may not be all that traditional, but sometimes it's worth considering how others may feel. If you don't ask your partner's parents for permission, will they be upset? A wedding is about you and your soon-to-be-spouse, but it's also a representation of your marriage, consisting of compromise, family, and respect. You may not care about traditions, but your partner's family (and maybe even your partner) could care. Show you respect them by sticking with the tradition. It sets a great tone and relationship for the rest of your life with your partner's family.

2. Support: No, you don't ask for permission with the hopes of having financial support during the wedding. Sometimes parents can't help pay for things. Including them in the process from the beginning opens up the doors to opportunities for support. They may have ideas, may help decrease the stress, might have money or a space for the wedding. Whatever it is, parents often do want to support their families, so make sure you don't distance your future in-laws by forgetting about them in the very beginning. Ask them for permission and you might get rewarded.

3. Sense of belonging: Ultimately, marriage is about family. Not everyone has a huge family or a close one, but at the end of the day, family is the group of people you're stuck with. Asking permission before proposing creates a respectful, open, and vulnerable relationship with your new family members. It's nerve-wracking but worth the new love and support you'll receive.

With all of these decisions, have you decided what time of year to celebrate the special occasion? Here's Cupid's relationship advice to help you plan your future wedding:

1. Your favorite season as a couple: Did the two of you meet in the spring and every blooming blossom reminds you of your love for each other? 2. Wedding photographs: Great photographs are all about lighting. When you think about what time of year to plan your wedding, think about how light changes throughout the year. If you're in the north wanting a winter wedding, besides the cold, you should consider that the sun sets very early compared to the rest of the year. Natural lighting is the best kind of lighting for photographs, so if you want the best pictures to remember the day by, take special consideration into when your wedding will be.

3. Invitation accommodations: When you're planning to have a lot of people come to your wedding, you have to consider other people's schedules. If you have a lot of family with children, September weddings may have to be nixed out of the planning because of school schedules. Consider the people you're inviting; if you want a lot of people to come then you need to choose a time most convenient for as many invitees as possible.
