Is it important that your potential partner possess all of the attributes you on your list?

Cupid's Advice

Sure it would be great to find a perfect lover, but odds are that's not going to happen. But, Cupid has some consolation for you:

1. Everyone has faults: Everyone has their quirks, and idiosyncratic behaviors. That's what makes us human. While it's important to have key similarities with a lover, you won't agree with each other all the time.

2. Healthy Debate: A strong companionship filled with love will not damage a relationship when there are differences. In fact, it's healthy to debate issues and maintain some individuality. A good partnership allows you to accept each other regardless of your differences.

3. Differences are good: Having interests that your partner doesn't necessarily like (e.g., watching sports, going to the ballet, shopping) is not a bad thing. It will allow you and your mate some "me time," which is important to maintaining a long-term relationship.

What if the man you like doesn’t want to settle down?

Cupid’s Advice:

So what do you do when you’re ready to pick a wedding date, but your significant other doesn’t even want to live with you yet? It’s difficult, but it might be time to move on:

1. Talk about why he doesn't want to settle down: Maybe there is an underlying factor that is scaring your man from committing fully. It could be some pressure you place on him, or it could have to do with how his own family worked out. Either way, talk to him and try to understand on his level.

2. See if you can make any compromises: Could it be possible you are too controlling for his liking? If your man is nervous about living with you because of such issues, make compromises. You won't wake him up or 6 a.m. yoga on Saturdays if he will put the toilet seat down. Talking about issues like that might make your man excited about the whole idea, instead of trying to run from it.

3. Consider moving on: If all else fails and your man still doesn't want to settle down, you might have to find a new man. We all hate to hear this, but you and your lover have to want the same thing for your relationship to succeed. There is sure to be someone out there who wants what you want.

How do you make sure your child feels loved as a single parent?

Cupid's Advice:

Although you are not raising your child in an ideal situation, make it clear to them that just because Mommy and Daddy are not together does not mean that they are loved any less:

1. Be there: As the old saying goes, "Actions speak louder than words." Prove to your child that you aren't going to leave his or her side. Be at sporting events, musicals, recitals and art shows. Be as present as possible in your child's life.

2. Get help when needed: There's no doubt that being a single parent is tough. If your child's mother or father isn't in the mix, make sure to reach out for help from family and friends when you need it. It's much better than making your child feel neglected because you don't have enough time to dedicate to them.

3. Tell them: Let your child know that they are loved every single day, not only by you, but by your former partner and extended family.

3 Ask them to dance: Although this is a little risky because not everyone likes to dance , it does show that you want to have fun, which is an attractive characteristic. If the guy you choose can't dance, hit them with some old school dances and make everyone laugh.

What are things to be cautious of while dating around?

Cupid's Advice:

When you're single, you want to play the field without going overboard. Cupid has some tips on how to be careful, and yet still have fun while dating:

1. Overbooking: Even if you're a heartthrob movie star like

2. Being dishonest: When you're seeing someone new, you should be truthful right away. If you're not looking for a serious relationship, tell them that to avoid any confusion or hurt feelings.

3. Falling into a pattern: If dating bad boys hasn't exactly worked out for you, try changing your habits. By dating outside of your comfort zone, you'll find out what you like and in the process, you may also find "the one."

1. Bond over the kids: If you have kids with your ex, chances are you both love them unconditionally. So, don't focus on your issues as a couple, center your attention on being a good mother and father for your kids. Be there as a team and your relationship may have the chance of being less bitter.

2. Avoid drama: If you aren't going to rekindle your relationship anytime soon, there is no reason to revive the drama. Leave the past in the past.

3. Get in touch with your feelings: Whether it's yoga, mediation or therapy, get in touch with your feelings in order to heal and wash away the negativity that could be destroying you inside.

Justin Timberlake Says He Should Not Be Giving Love Advice

Not everyone can dole out love advice like Cupid can. "I think it's pretty obvious that I should not be giving anybody love advice," the actor/musician said, adding, "Yeah, listen to a single male... That'll work out." Timberlake, 30, split with Jessica Biel in March.

How do you know if someone giving you love advice is credible?

Cupid's Advice:

Some people have more bad luck in the love arena than others and may not be the best source of relationship advice. Cupid has some tips on how to know when someone is giving you reliable tips:

- 1. Single: Don't get your relationship advice from one of your perpetually single friends. There's nothing wrong with being single, but if they've never had a long-term relationship, they probably can't help you out.

2. In a relationship: On the other hand, someone who has been in a perfect, trouble-free relationship for as long as you can remember might have trouble giving you tips on how to overcome relationship hurdles.

3. Different experiences: If you ask a friend who doesn't believe in monogamy what to do when you think your mate is cheating, they may give you a biased response. In other words, talk to someone with the same outlook on love.

Does flirting with the opposite sex help relieve the pain of a break-up?

Cupid's Advice:

Flirting can help when you're fresh out of a relationship because it can boost your confidence with potential lovers. Here are some tips to help you get back into the game:

1. Timing is key: It's important to remember the "mourning period" that follows a break-up. Give yourself some time to get over your ex before you start turning up the flirt. After all, nobody likes thinking about their ex when they're with someone else.

2. Man overboard: The key with flirting is that it's like alcohol—best in moderation. Taking it too far is not only a sign that you're not over your ex, but you just look silly.

3. Be playful: Remember, it's just flirting. Similar to Anthony, keep it fun, but don't try to get a rebound right after a break-up.
