KATIE MALONEY AND TOM SCHWARTZ GET MARRIED ON 'VANDERPUMP RULES,' WHEN WILL SHE GET PREGNANT?

LINDSAY CRONIN

Katie Maloney and Tom Schwartz's wedding is the focal point of the Vanderpump Rules Season 5 trailer. Soon, fans will see the ceremony take place on the Bravo TV reality show.

Although the couple's relationship appears to be strained during a few scenes from the sneak peek, Katie Maloney and Tom Schwartz ultimately reconciled their relationship drama and successfully made it down the aisle, with Lisa Vanderpump officiating their ceremony and their co-stars looking on.

Since the wedding took place in August, fans have been wondering when Katie Maloney will get pregnant, but so far, she doesn't seem to have babies on the brain. In fact, best friend and co-star Stassi Schroeder spoke out last week and revealed that Jax Taylor's girlfriend, Brittany Cartwright, would be more likely to get pregnant first.

On November 4, Blasting News shared details from one of Schroeder's latest interviews, revealing that the reality star and fashionista confirmed that Katie Maloney simply wasn't ready for children quite yet. Instead, she seems to be enjoying life as a newlywed as she and her co-stars prepare for the fifth season of Vanderpump Rules.

One day later, Katie Maloney appeared on the red carpet with her co-stars, including Scheana Marie Shay, Stassi Schroeder, and Kristen Doute, at an event in Los Angeles.

In March of last year, prior to Tom Schwartz's proposal, Katie Maloney spoke to Cupid's Pulse about the possibility of future children.

"I definitely want us to enjoy being married for a bit before we start having kids. And that's why I want to get the ball moving — I'm young, but I'm not getting younger!" she explained.

Katie Maloney appeared to be one step ahead of herself at times, but during the fourth season of Vanderpump Rules, she finally got the engagement ring she had been hoping for. Just over one year later, she and Tom Schwartz made it official.

Following her wedding in Northern California, Katie Maloney spoke to E! News about her big day.

"I'm so happy to have married my best friend and love that I finally get to call Tom my husband. Celebrating with our closest friends and family has been nothing short of an amazing experience," she told the outlet.

Katie Maloney and Tom Schwartz tied the knot in front of about 100 guests, including Vanderpump Rules co-stars Brittany Cartwright, Scheana Marie Shay, Jax Taylor, Tom Sandoval, Kristen Doute, and Ariana Madix.

"We wanted to be secluded and in the woods and we are just that. It's so pretty," Schwartz explained to the outlet before their wedding. "Our theme is woodsy-elegance and the thing I'm most, most excited about is that we get to have so many of our close family and friends there. It just makes it that much more special."

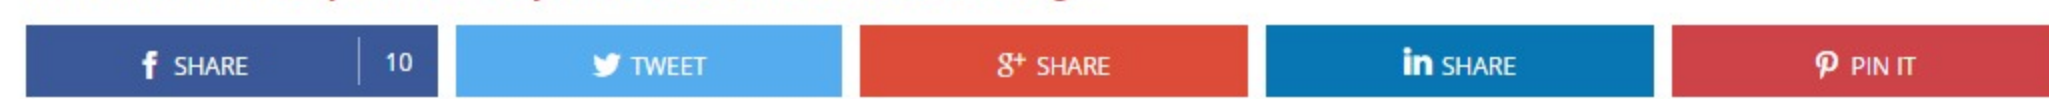

"My dress, when I put it on, I got goose bumps and I knew that was the dress I was going to marry him in and it had all the elements that I really, really wanted," Katie Maloney shared. "For me, it's unique and it's different and it's very me."

Before tying the knot, Katie Maloney and Tom Schwartz traveled to New Orleans with their co-stars for what appeared to be a joint bachelor-bachelorette party. Around the same time, Katie Maloney enjoyed a bridal shower that she described as an "amazing day."

To see more of Katie Maloney and Tom Schwartz's relationship, check out the upcoming fifth season of Vanderpump Rules, which premieres on Bravo TV tonight, November 7 at 9 p.m.

 I don't love some of it, especially Lala and James!!! Lala looks like a low priced hooker!!! She's almost pretty enough to be an ok model but she craves that bad attention. We'll see how it goes!!!
