Celebrity News: Amy Schumer Clarifies Pregnancy Rumors With a Cocktail in Hand

By

Rhodesia Williams

In celebrity news, comedian Amy Schumer shuts down pregnancy rumors with husband Chris Fischer by holding a cocktail. According to EOnline.com, Schumer posted a caption on Instagram alluding to the fact that the celebrity couple could be expecting their first celebrity baby. Schumer said, “@leesaevansstyle and I are cookin’ somethin’ up.” Unfortunately, her followers took it literally and Schumer had to apologize. She explained how she is coming out with a new clothing line and the celebrity couple will not be having a child. Schumer goes on to say, "That's what I was trying to allude to, but thank you for thinking of my womb."

It looks like this celebrity news may have been false! What are some ways to know you're ready to have children with your partner?

Cupid's Advice:

Babies are not only a lot of work, but a lot of responsibility. Not having children doesn't mean you and your partner love each other less, it's just that you realize it may not be the right time. Cupid has some advice on ways to know if you and your partner are ready to have children:

1. Stability: Having a stable environment is extremely important when bringing children into the world. Make sure your situation is suitable before the baby comes. Although there may not be a "perfect" time to have a kid, ideally, a good time to have one is when you and your partner are stable yourselves as well as when you are together.

Celebrity News: Find Out Why

Amy Schumer Is Not Changing Her Last Name Post-Marriage

By

Jessica Gomez

In celebrity news, Amy Schumer is not taking her hubby's last name. According to UsMagazine.com, the comedian decided to not take Chris Fischer's last name sometime after their celebrity wedding last month. "I'm not Amy Fischer! Do you remember who Amy Fisher is? The Long Island Lolita. No, I'm keeping my last name. I'm keeping your last name," Schumer said after her new husband asked her if she was changing her last name. The conversation was posted on her Instagram story, which involved her father – seems Schumer keeps a joking mind for everything, even when it comes to the newlywed celebrity couple. According to UsMagazine.com, she was referring to Amy Fisher, a then-17-year-old who shot her lover Joey Buttafuoco's wife, Mary Jo Buttafuoco, in the face in Long Island in May 1992. Mary Jo survived and Amy Fisher was sentenced to five to 15 years in prison. After six years in prison, she was granted parole.

In celebrity news, Amy Schumer has decided against changing her last name to match her husband's. What are some things to consider before you change your name?

It just happens that way. Some people want to be traditional and take their spouses last name, others don't, while others are on the fence. For those of you who are undecided or are up to be swayed, here are options to consider before changing your last name to your spouse's in order to keep your identity and have your family name live on:

1. Consider all the paperwork: The paperwork process can possibly make you want to pull your hair out. It is extremely tedious. The process involves going to the Social Security Office and the DMV. You would also have to make lots of phone calls, and no, not to your friends and fam. You would have to call your credit card's companies and any other accounts you have open with your current name. This is not to scare you, just keep this in mind.

2. Consider adding their last name instead of just changing yours: Many people opt out for this option. Instead of completely changing their last name, they just meet somewhere in the middle and add their spouse's last name to theirs with a hyphen, or use their last name as a middle name and their partner's last name as that. This is a good option for people who are on the fence. Paperwork still has to be done of course, but if you don't care about it, then this may be for you.

3. Consider creating a new last name for the both of you: This could be a good option for couples who want to either be super fair or just hate both of their last names. This is something that can be made legal. Either both come up with a last name together or mix both of yours together somehow. And again, paperwork needs to get done for this and any type of changes in name.

Celebrity Wedding: Amy Schumer Marries Chris Fischer in Surprise Wedding

By

Carly Horowitz

Amy Schumer and Chris Fischer tied the knot on Tuesday! According to EOnline.com, the celebrity wedding took place in a private waterfront home in Malibu. Schumer and Fischer only went public as a celebrity couple two days before their wedding via an Instagram post of them kissing. Although, rumors of Schumer and Fischer being together have been stirring around since November. Some individuals whom were in attendance at the celebrity wedding were Jennifer Lawrence, Jake Gyllenhaal, Jennifer Aniston, Larry David, Judd Apatow, and David Spade.

This celebrity wedding was a surprise! What are some benefits to making your wedding a surprise?

Cupid's Advice:

Your wedding is a very special occasion. Sometimes, it can make it even more special if you celebrate it in an intimate, surprising manner! Here are some good aspects regarding surprise weddings:

1. There is less pressure: When you are planning a surprise wedding, there won't be any expectations of how it should go. The guests or the public in general has no idea what to even expect since it is a surprise. Therefore, your wedding doesn't have to live up to anything crazy.

Celebrity Break-Up: Amy

Schumer & Ben Hanisch Split After One Year Together

By Wh

itney Johnson

Amy Schumer and longtime boyfriend Ben Hanisch have called it quits after dating for over a year, according to UsMagazine.com. "Amy and Ben have ended their relationship after thoughtful consideration and remain friends," Schumer's rep shared of the recent celebrity break-up. In November, the celebrity couple celebrated their first anniversary with sweet Instagram posts. Along with a photo of the duo, Hanisch gushed, "A year ago, I met the love of my life. We both weren't looking for a relationship at the time, but something felt right from the very first night we met."

This celebrity break-up is definitely unfortunate. What are some ways to know you're not right for each other?

Cupid's Advice:

We can't help but be surprised – and disappointed – by the news of this celebrity break-up. But sometimes, you just know when you and your partner aren't right for each other. If you're trying to figure out whether or not you've found The One, consider the dating advice below:

1. You don't feel like yourself: Your partner should make you feel like the best version of yourself. If, instead, you don't even feel like yourself around them, it may be time to call it quits. Remember that you will find someone who makes you proud to be you.

Celebrity News: Kate Hudson Makes Red Carpet Debut with Boyfriend Danny Fujikawa

By

Noelle Downey

In celebrity news, actress and celebrity mom Kate Hudson has made it red-carpet official with boyfriend Danny Fujikawa. According to UsMagazine.com, the celebrity couple shared a passionate kiss in front of dozens of camera flashes while on their way into the premiere of Snatched, which stars Hudson's mother, Goldie Hawn, alongside comedic actress Amy Schumer. The pair were spotted enjoying their Hollywood relationship in March, and Hudson seemed, "really flirty" and "not shy about it at all" an eyewitness to the couple's canoodling spilled. On the red carpet at the premiere, Hudson and Fujikawa were joined by Hawn and her husband Kurt Russell, who both gushed about Fujikawa to press. "He's a great guy," beloved actress Hawn enthused, "Yeah, he's very special actually." Russell added his praise, saying, "I always approve. Kate brings good guys."

This celebrity news is certainly the next step in Kate Hudson's relationship. What are some ways to know you're ready for the next step in your relationship?

Cupid's Advice:

Cupid is here with some top tips on how to know when you and your partner are ready to take the next big step in your relationship:

- 1. When you both know what you want: Make sure that before you take your relationship public or put any kind of labels on what you're doing, sit down and talk about what you're both ultimately looking for. Are you interested in a long-term commitment? Are you just looking for something casual? Do you want to get married? Will you ever want to? In casual dating these questions aren't really a concern, but when it comes to a relationship getting serious, it's vital to know where your partner stands on where you're going as a couple, so sit down and talk it out before things go any further.

2. When your communication is going great: If you're going to be in a serious relationship, it's time to get real about communication. If you two struggle to hold a serious conversation in which you can actually share your thoughts and emotions with one another, it's time to give some serious thought about whether you're both ready to be in a serious relationship together. Any good couple has great communication or is working hard towards that goal, so if you always know you can go and talk to your partner, that's a good sign that you're in a good place to begin something more serious.

3. When your friends and family love them: Approval from friends and family doesn't have to mean everything, and let's be honest, sometimes people just don't get along no matter how awesome they are when they're separated. However, it's also really amazing when your friends and family can see the great person you're with as... well, great. Especially if you come from a close-knit family or friend group it can be really important for you to feel like your significant other is accepted. And if every single one of the people you love is telling you that your partner doesn't seem right for you, it may be time to think about why they all seem to be saying the same thing. Relationships where it seems to be you and them against the rest of the world never end very well.

Are you in a relationship that's pretty serious? How did you know it was time to take the plunge from casual dating to something more? Let us know in the comments!

Celebrity News: Amy Schumer Slams 'Bachelor' Host Chris Harrison for Calling Jubilee 'Complicated'

By

Myesha Cobb

Things got heated on Twitter recently between comedienne Amy Schumer and host of The Bachelor Chris Harrison, according to UsMagazine.com. This celebrity news caught some off guard, as Amy Schumer went after the host for calling Jubilee Sharpe “complicated.” The comedienne took to Twitter, saying, “There is nothing wrong with ‘complicated’ women Chris Harrison. You treated it like something she should fight. A women shouldn’t try to.” Afterward, Harrison fired back via Twitter and said, “Stop yelling at me, I’m 82% sure I said and supported all these points as well.” The two said that they would be down to talk about it over some wine as Schumer replied, “I’m drinking all the wine!”

This celebrity news stirs the drama pot a bit, but it does make sense! What are some ways to know your partner knows the “real” you?

Cupid’s Advice:

Obviously, Jubilee Sharpe just wanted to let Ben Higgins get to know “the real her,” despite her “complicated” life. There is absolutely nothing wrong with allowing your partner to get to know you so that you can have honesty and trust in your relationship. Here are some some pieces of relationship advice for ways to know that your partner knows the “real” you:

1. Take your partner to your hometown: Taking your partner to visit where you grew up is one way you will be able to see if they know the “real” you. Once you’re there, ask your partner some questions that only he/she would know about your hometown life. That way, you’ll get to see if your partner knows you on a deeper level.

Celebrity Couple News: Amy Schumer Denies She Met Her New Boyfriend on Bumble

By

Dejha Carlisle

Rumors aren't always true! In latest celebrity news, Amy Schumer denies that she met her new beau, furniture designer Ben Hanisch online, even though recent reports are stating otherwise. The actress spoke out about reports on the celebrity couple, stating that he'd join her on the Golden Globes red carpet. According to People.com, Schumer also denied using the app through Twitter. She wrote, "Please let the record show I have never in my life been on Bumble." The celebrity couple be under fire for how they met, but Schumer definitely knows how to deny a rumor!

This celebrity couple is slamming rumors. What are some ways to keep rumors from affecting your relationship?

Cupid's Advice:

Rumors do hurt, even if they may be crazy. Here are a few tips on how to deal with them:

1. Confront the source: Confronting the person who made up the lies about you and your lover can be effective. Don't resort to cruel words, but be firm in your opinion. By approaching this person directly, this may keep them from wanting to make up things about you again.

Amy Schumer Stars in New Relationship Movie

'Trainwreck'

By

Courtney Omernick

In the new relationship movie, Trainwreck, Amy (Schumer) was told that “monogamy isn’t realistic” as a child. So, she’s spent her whole life in short and unfulfilling relationships and love. However, that all changes when she’s asked to write a story about a sports doctor named Aaron Connors (Bill Hader).

This chick flick is about a career-focused woman who is forced to face her fear of monogamy.

Should you see it:

This relationship movie is not your average chick flick! If you've ever jumped from relationship to relationship, begging the universe to help you find the right guy, then you'll enjoy this film. The movie also features a great cast including Amy Schumer, Bill Hader, Vanessa Bayer, LeBron James, and more!

Who to take:

This relationship movie/non-traditional chick flick would be great to see with your friends or significant other.
