This former celebrity couple announced their split on June 25 in a post on Anderson's Instagram, saying "It's hard to accept. The last (more than) 2 years of my life have been a big lie."

This celebrity news has drama written all over it. What are some ways to avoid drama after a tough split?

Cupid's Advice:

A break up with a significant other is never easy, especially if it wasn't mutual. While sometimes drama comes with the breakup, it is always possible to sit down and talk with your ex to work out your issues before you go your separate ways so there are no bad feelings residing. Here are a few of Cupid's ways to avoid drama after a tough split:

1. Assess the situation: Sit down with yourself and do a bit of self reflection- what exactly is leading to this break up? How have you reacted to things? How has your partner? Find the root of your worries and think about how you want to address them with your ex, so you can work out those feelings before anything gets out of hand.

2. Leave the past in the past: The past is the past for a reason. Every day you grow into a new and better version of yourself, you are not who people may believe you once were. Focus on the here and now, and who you are today.

3. Stop pleasing others: There is always a reason for every break up. If you decide to split from your partner because it was not right for you to be with them anymore, so be it! You have to do what is best for you and only you, no matter what others may say or think.

Cupid’s Advice:

Staying silent about pain in your life is not always the best plan of action. It can build up until you explode in ways that aren’t pleasant. Cupid has some ways opening up about a split can help you move on:

1. Talk to loved ones: Ending a relationship also drops the levels of intimacy you once had. Open up to your loved ones to quench your need for intimacy and vulnerability through other trusted people in your life.

By Amanda Sanders

Fans have some opinions on what was behind this celebrity break-up. What are three good reasons to call off your relationship?

Cupid's Advice:

Breaking up is a big deal and shouldn't be done lightly, but there are definitely some instances where it's warranted.

Cupid has some good reasons it's time to call it quits:

1. They're too clingy: At first, it's nice to be with someone who showers you with constant attention. But if they get angry or disappointed every time you go out with your friends or when you need a night to yourself then its time to take a step back and re-evaluate how healthy this relationship really is.

Related Link: Expert Dating Advice: How To Handle Heartbreak

2. They don't make time for you: Even Prince Charming might forget to respond to a text every so often or be forced to cancel plans when something important comes up. But if you're never able to pin down your guy to hang out, that doesn't give you much time to have an actual relationship. This kind of guy typically isn't looking for anything serious, and if you are, then it's time to move on.

3. You can't trust them: No one likes a liar. If you have serious doubts about where they were when they said they were working late or worse, you catch them in a lie, it's time to dump them.

By Emily Green

In the latest celebrity baby news, Roger Mathews of Jersey Shore, defends his estranged wife Jenni 'JWoww' Farley via Instagram on Monday, in the midst of an overflow of negative comments regarding their co-parenting skills. These negative comments come after new celebrity couple Farley and boyfriend, Zack Clayton Carpinello, were seen celebrating Memorial Day in Las Vegas, according to UsMagazine.com.

In celebrity baby news, Roger Mathews is supporting his ex JWoww through criticism about their parenting. What are some ways to keep parenting criticism from affecting your children?

Cupid's Advice:

As a parent, receiving any criticism about how you are raising your children can be hard to hear, especially if it's from an outside source. These criticisms can make you begin to question if you are truly raising your children in the "right way." Every parent has their own unique way that they want their children to be raised. Here are Cupid's advice on remembering that your parenting style is the "right way" for you:

1. Ask yourself about their intentions: Some parents are what some would call "too confident" in their parenting style, thinking their way is the only right way to raise a child. Consider where their criticism is coming from: are they a random stranger that wants you to do things a certain way, or are they a close friend or family member offering advice? Through experience, you will find the parenting style that works best for you and your family.

2. Everyone is different: No parents are going to have the exact same type of parenting as others. Every household is different, with different parents and children, with different morals and ideals. If you are not sure about how to go about a situation, that's okay! Reach out to your partner, any close friends or family members, even do some research! It takes time to figure out exactly how you want to raise your children, so don't be afraid to try new things or ask for help.

Related Link: Parenting Tips: Apply Research to the Practice of Parenting

3. You know your children best: No one knows your children better than YOU! You've been the one who has seen them grow up first hand, so you know how they react and adapt to certain situations and experiences. If you want to change up something in your parenting to better fit your family, that's fine! Just stick to what you know will benefit your family, don't conform to any criticisms from any outside perspective. You know what is best!

Break ups can be hard but deciding whether or not to give a relationship another chance can be even harder. What are some tips to deciding where or not to take an ex back?

Cupid's Advice:

Some celebrity couples call it quits and never try again. Others, like Cardi B and Offset, find themselves revisiting that old flame and keeping the fire going. As long as you go into a potential rekindling with a different mentality than the one that made you decide to break up, getting back with an ex can be a good idea when done right. Cupid has some tips:

1. Acknowledge that you have both grown: You may have broken up and the wounds may still be fresh but in order to move on together you have to let go of past hurts. You are both not the same person that you were when you ended your relationship previously.

Be willing to have open communication like Miley Cyrus and her once ex (but now husband), Liam Hemsworth.

Cupid’s Advice:

Just because the spark went out doesn’t necessarily mean your relationship is over. Here are some ways to work on a failing relationship:

1. Back off a little: It’s sometimes best to back off a bit and let your relationship work itself out. Give your partner some space and spend some extra time with your friends. Putting too much pressure on your relationship and trying too hard to move it forward, can ultimately lead to disaster.

What are some ways of preventing the public backlash from getting you down after a breakup?

Cupid's Advice:

The last thing anyone wants to deal with after a rough breakup is societal backlash. We have some ways to prevent getting hurt by adverse reactions from the public:

1. Avoid new romantic opportunities right away: Let's face it, if someone says something hurtful, it's hard to ignore it. It's important to not give the public something to talk about and give yourself some time to heal before getting involved with someone new.

2. Take a break from some of the activities you do in town: It's good to keep participating in things you enjoy following a breakup, but it's not necessary to force yourself to see people who are going to ask too many questions. Pick and choose which activities you still want to participate in and take a break from the others for a bit.

3. Don't feel bad about having to avoid certain people: If it seems too difficult to keep in close contact with your ex's friends and relatives, who you've become close to, then take a little break from them. They may have their biases considering they're people you met through your ex-partner. You can avoid talking to them if you want to protect yourself from any negative comments that will ultimately hurt you.

Hudson has previously been granted a petition for Order of Protection against her celebrity ex, citing protection for herself and for her son. The pair announced their celebrity break-up earlier this year.

This celebrity break-up seems to be getting very messy. What are some things to consider when you're splitting with your significant other and you have a child in the picture?

Cupid's Advice:

Sometimes, relationships fizzle out. While a split is always complicated and full of emotions, if you and your estranged partner have a child, there are even higher chances for issues to arise. If you are breaking up with your partner and you share kids, Cupid has some things for you to consider:

1. Be ready to co-parent: You and your partner have a shared responsibility for your kids. If you are splitting up, you should figure out how you'd like to continue raising your kids. Ideally, this should be done without the help of layers and a court. Figure out a system that works best for your lives and stick to it.

2. Adopt a "kids come first" mindset: Establishing this mentality is important after a split. Regardless of the differences between you and your partner, it's important to remember that your kids come first. This will help you in times of conflict and stress. Sometimes, you'll both have to swallow your pride and put on a happy face for the sake of your kids' well-being.

3. Keep it professional: Never badmouth your partner in front of your kids. No matter the situation, it's important to voice your negative opinions in private. By projecting your feelings about your ex onto your kids, you could cause long-term emotional issues for them. Let your children form their own opinions and conclusions, and make sure you're there for them when they need you.

Splitting with your partner can get messy, especially when there are children involved. It can be easy to get lost in the craziness of court and other important decisions. Here are a few ways to deal with custody issues during your split:

1. Put your children first: In a custody battle, you may be tempted to take out all your anger on your ex and be spiteful. However, you have to remember your kids and what is best for them. No matter how you feel towards your ex-partner, if they are a good parent to your child, then try and be flexible with your conditions. None of it is easy on your child, but you can do your best to keep things as normal as possible.

You can't control how others act, but you always have a say in your own life.
