This celebrity couple took a while to come together, but Chris wooed Annabelle. What are some ways to woo your crush?

Cupid's Advice:

When you are falling hard for someone, you definitely want to put your best foot forward. In the beginning of a relationship, the atmosphere is very open and you have the ability to conduct yourself in whichever way you feel fit. Take a step back and think about how you want yourself to be portrayed in order for you to potentially start a relationship with the person you fancy. Here are some good tips on how to woo your crush from the start:

1. Surprise: Cute surprises are a really good tactic to use to either get your crush to notice you or further take interest in you. Surprise your crush by bringing them lunch to where they work. Or, surprise them by sending a fruit basket to their home!

2. Tell them you like them: No one likes to play games. The easiest and most straight forward way to woo the one you desire is to tell them how you feel! Nothing is more genuine than that. Don't play hard to get and toss around their feelings like a frisbee. Tell your crush that you like them and show them that you care. If you are attentive to them and their feelings, that will most definitely get them feeling happy and interested.

What are some ways to announce your relationship to family and friends?

Cupid's Advice:

Announcing that you are involved with another person is an inevitable part of being in a relationship but it can also be nerve-racking. Cupid has some advice for how to make it easier:

Don't over think it: It's important that you let your friends and family know that you are dating someone but try to keep things in perspective. Keep it calm and casual. You're announcing your relationship, not your engagement.

Do it together: It might be less intimidating if your partner is with you when you make the announcement.

It's your relationship: Of course, you want the people in your life to approve of your new partner. At the end of the day, though, you are the one in the relationship. As long as your relationship is healthy and loving, it doesn't really matter what anyone else thinks.
