Cupid’s Advice:

Planning a wedding is one of the most stressful events to pull

But, sometimes family can help in easing the chaos you might feel as everything comes together for the big day. By incorporating your family into your wedding celebration, it can feel more personal and even reduce stress or wedding jitters. Cupid has some relationship tips for both you and your partner for incorporating your family before you walk down the aisle:

1. Unique walks down the aisle: The famous Office scene where the entire cast dances down the aisle in Jim and Pam's wedding is one that has been cemented in iconic television history. Everyone has seen that clip or even other ceremonies that implemented this idea. It's a fun and easy way to incorporate your family and friends into a part of your wedding that'll be incredibly memorable. You can have one song that is playing as everyone jigs down the aisle or you can try different songs for different groups. You can give the bridesmaids and grooms a song, the parents a song, and the flower girls and ring bearer a song. It'll liven up the ceremony and make everyone feel included.

2. Musical loved one: Instead of hiring a DJ, if you or your partner have a talented family member, allow them to either open or close the wedding by singing or playing a beautiful song. It's even better if the loved one has created their own, personalized song for the occasion. It proves to be very intimate, and it can give the family member such honor to perform at your ceremony.

3. Honoring the deceased: It's always a very personal and touching part of a wedding if the bride and groom take time to honor family members and loved ones that are no longer with them. There are many ways to do this. You can ask for a moment of silence for the departed. You can have family members come light a candle out of remembrance. Or, my personal favorite, is for a tree to be planted in honor of those that have been lost. Make it an uplifting part of your ceremony where it seems like they're celebrating alongside you.

This celebrity engagement came at a good time in Justin's life. What are some ways to know you're ready for marriage?

Cupid's Advice:

Just when you think things can't get any better, BOOM, you're engaged! As exciting and overwhelming as it can be, marriage is a great goal to strive for. Cupid has some advice on ways to know if you are ready for marriage:

1. Slow and steady: Knowing if you are ready for marriage takes sitting down and examining your relationship. Rushing through things can eventually hurt your relationship. Remember, slow and steady wins the race. Take your time and sort things out. No relationship is perfect, but if you have a strong foundation, you may just be ready for marriage. Make sure you are taking enough time to think things over. While you don't want to have the longest engagement like Roy and Pam from The Office, make sure enough time is given to get things in order.

2. Be the bigger person: A big part of being in a relationship, let alone a marriage, is sometimes having to be the bigger person. Compromising is a big part of being in a relationship. Marriage is a lot of work and lots of added stress. Make sure you are able to utilize these important tools. Marriages are two way streets just like any other relationship. Be prepared.

3. Right is right: Make sure you are getting married for the right reasons. Don't get married because your cousin Michele, who is always in competition with you, just got married so now you have to out do her. Marriage is a sacred union and is something to be taken seriously. You are not only bounded together by faith, but by law. Those two words represent a lifetime commitment. If you are in it for the right reasons, then why not?

Within the last couple of weeks, Bieber and Baldwin started up their celebrity relationship again and have been in love ever since. Sources say the couple are very happy and enjoy each other's company. Who would've thought just a few weeks of a rekindled love would lead to a celebrity wedding?

There's a celebrity wedding in the works for Justin and Hailey. What are some ways to know you've been dating long enough to get engaged?

Cupid's Advice:

As time flies by in a relationship, it's normal to consider marriage. You may ask yourself, "When is the right time?" Cupid has some advice on ways to know you've been dating long enough to get engaged:

1. Are you ready?: Getting engaged is not only telling the world that you are ready to take the next step, but it's also letting each other know. Marriage is a big commitment and takes a lot of work. Although weddings are glorified with all that goes into it, after it's all said and done, you and your partner are now bound together. Have a serious talk with your soon-to-be spouse about the topic. While the amount of time you've spent together is a factor, more important is making sure you are both ready.

2. Knowledge is power: When dating, you get to know just about everything you need to know about your partner. Make sure you know, understand and can accept your partner for who they are. It's not uncommon for people to get married and then realize that their partner either changed or started doing things that they've never seen or realized. If you are confident that you know your partner and can accept their flaws, then it sounds like you are just about ready.

3. Timing: Timing is everything when it comes to engagements. While for some, dating for a few months is considered a long time, others need years. If you are still working out important kinks in your relationship, it may be a little early to get engaged. Relationships are constant work but if you feel like you have put the time and effort in and you are ready, than why not? It's kind of like retirement; sometimes you just need the time in order to reap the benefits.

A witness stated, "It's obvious that they get along well and have a very fun and loving relationship from the way that they interacted with each other."

In celebrity news, this duo was rumored to have been dating at one point. How do you know if a friend has the potential to be more than that?

Cupid's Advice:

It's always said that you should marry your best friend. Why not be with the person who knows what you like, can tell when you are upset and just likes you for you? Cupid has some advice on knowing if your friend has the potential to be more:

1. Views: Before you jump into turning your friendship into a relationship, explore each other's point of views. Although friendships can evolve into relationships, it is important to make sure you are both on the same page. What are your beliefs? What do you think your friend will bring to the relationship? How does your friend feel about relationships? Being great friends is different from being a couple.

2. Future plans: Discussing the future is essential. Everybody has their own plans for the future. Jumping into a relationship with someone who won't compromise their future plans with you isn't a good idea. This will bring heart break and hurt feelings later. Discuss your future; although nothing is set in stone, remember as a couple, you are supposed to grow and be happy. While compromising is great, don't compromise your whole future if that's not what you really want. Don't force it.

3. Feelings: How are your feelings towards each other? Often people say they can't live without a specific person or thing that makes them happy. Is your friend someone you can't live without? Are you ready to risk it all?
