What are three important tips for flirting?

Cupid’s Advice:

The simple act of flirting can make or break a potential relationship. Too much flirting will leave them running for the door. At the same time, not enough will make them unaware of your feelings. Cupid offers some helpful tips for flirting:

1. Less is more: Before you get to the point of swapping numbers, there has to be a mutual attraction between both of you. Don't over flirt; you will end up seeming desperate and clingy. Walk over to them and start a conversation, but make it short! If they're interested, they will make their way back to you before the night is over.

2. Play hard to get: When meeting someone new at a party, try getting their number instead of giving yours out. Wait a few days to text or call him—this will make him more eager to hear from you. On your first date, lean in like you're about to kiss him and pull away at the last second to say goodnight. This will leave him craving a second date with you.

3. Notice what he's wearing: If he's wearing a sports jersey of a team you are familiar with, point it out to him. This will start up an interesting conversation about your common interest in the team—guys love that. This can also be applied for band t-shirts or any type of shirt that expresses what they like.

How do you determine if someone is out of your league?

Cupid's Advice:

Determining if another person is out of your league can be a very challenging aspect of life. Most of the ladies out there have heard about the rule, or the exception. They attempt to scrutinize the guy they may or may not have a crush on and figure out what the deal is. Is he into me? Is he too cool for me? Am I his type? Here are some ways to help decide:

1. You're constantly chasing him: To every women, there will be that one guy that you crave, the one guy where you want to talk to every single day. The problem which ensues where the guy does not feel the same way, they express their feelings slyly, they rarely return phone calls, they don't seem interested whatsoever. Unfortunately, for some odd reason women tend to want a guy more if they don't want them. I can abide by this preposterous rule, it gives the guy you're chasing a mystery about him. Where does he go? What does he do? Why can't I have him? The best thing here, is to saddle down, get off your horse, and start looking for a different man who wants to be with you.

2. Expectations: Women tend to give men higher expectations, or give themselves higher or lower expectations. Simply, expectations tie in to numerous problems pertaining to "leagues." These expectations given to men can make you think that he is entirely out of your league. This also works in reverse, where you give yourself lower expectations and think you're not good enough for the other person. To entirely decide whether this person is our of your league, you need to throw expectations out of the window and go with your gut.

3. Confidence: Confidence ladies and gentlemen needs to be prominent. In the beginning, of course looming into this confident all-knowing being is more than difficult. However, after practice and assistance, your confidence will come naturally. Confidence is key when determining if someone is out of your league. If you want to go up to someone at a bar, do it. It is as simple as that. You need to saddle up, unholster your confidence and get your flirt on. You could be missing out on the love of your life by degrading yourself or thinking you are better than someone else.

Find Out Why Prince Harry May Be the Happiest that Kate Middleton Is Pregnant

after Prince William and before Harry. With the world excited over the new baby to come, Harry, 28, will also get some much relieved rest from the spotlight. How do you gain respect back as a potential partner after a series of mishaps?

Cupid's Advice:

With life's challenges and unpredictability, it is understandable how mishaps can happen causing you to hurt your partner. However, remedying the mistake and regaining their respect is possible. By following the steps below, soon you will be on right side of love:

1. Lay low: Usually, a great thing to do is lay low for awhile after your mistakes. You, your mate and anyone else involved will need time to digest the situation and calm any negative feelings. This is not to say that you should go into hiding. Rather, focus only on fixing the issues and not any extras that could make things appear the same or worse.

2. Rebuild reputation: With your reputation tarnished, work on rebuilding your life back to where you want it. Moving forward, pay attention to what you say or write to your partner, family and friends so as not to have them misconstrued. Also, be sure that your actions are leading you towards the reputation you want.

3. Keep your promise: After everything, hopefully you have learned a lesson in how not to ruin your relationship. Take this opportunity to be a better partner through love, respect and honesty; don't just pretend to be one. Keeping your promise from here on out will lead you back to a loving relationship.

Can you move on, forgive and be happy again with a partner who has cheated?

Cupid's Advice:

You never thought you would be back with him – he lied, cheated and the two of you have long since broken up. But can there be a round two? Cupid has some tips:

1. Forgive, don't forget: We all need to forgive, mostly in order to move on and heal ourselves. If we hold on to a grudge and hold onto anger and resentment, then we are only hurting ourselves in the long run. Though, just because we forgive does not mean that we forget what has been done to us.

2. Think long and hard: Do not jump right in to another relationship, especially with someone who has cheated on you before. Weigh the pros and cons and truly consider whether or not your former beau has changed. Keep in mind the common saying: once a cheater, always a cheater.

3. Take baby steps: Don't rush into anything; take baby steps to see if this is something that you and your partner truly want. Perhaps you have forgiven them, but you cannot trust them. Perhaps you will find you are on two different paths in life.

What are some ways to keep your intimate details to yourself?

Cupid's Advice:

With today's technology allowing every experience to go virtually instantly into the world, some moments are best kept private. Here are a few tips on how to stay low key:

1. Electronics free: In entertaining situations with friends and loved ones, who doesn't like to snap a few photos to reminisce about later or post via Facebook? However, when the party gets down and dirty, it is time to put the electronics to bed. Especially when the alcohol is flowing, be sure to keep the smart phones put away.

2. Trust is No.1: When having fun at a party, it can be easy to let loose with your words, among other things. This is where you must be certain to know who's around you first. Surrounding yourself with close friends that always have your best interest at heart is a good way to insure embarrassing moments won't travel far.

3. Keep it sealed: In the event that you find yourself mingling with new acquaintances, less is more. It does not matter how cool or funny they seem, they are not your best friend! Therefore, the only way to avoid a regrettable tomorrow morning is not to share anything you wouldn't want the world to hear or see.

What do you do if something gets out about your intimate affairs?

Cupid's Advice:

Let's face it, we all do things that would make us cringe if they got out. Here are some things you can do if your intimate affairs find themselves in the public sphere:

- 1. Own up: We all make mistakes – in both our romantic and social lives – and sometimes, the best course of action is just to admit you did wrong.

2. Fix it: If you've done something that could hurt someone, you need to apologize and find a way to fix it ASAP. No relationship is worth ruining over one mistake.

3. Brush it off: Sometimes, people are just too invested in your personal life. Let everyone know that this gaffe doesn't matter, and walk away from the issue.

Prince Harry Spotted With New Woman at a London Club

When is it time to step out in public as a couple?

Cupid's Advice:

You may be happy with your new special someone, but taking it outside of your comfort zone can be bewildering. Doing so too soon can break your already fragile and new relationship, but stepping it up too late can make others question why you kept it a secret for so long. Here's how to find the balance:

- 1. You've both acknowledged monogamy: Anyone can go on a couple of dates and think they've found "the one," but the truth is: some people are serial daters. If you both agree that it's going to be exclusive, then you can step out as a couple. But, if there's no monogamy, then there should be no publicity.
- 2. You've been on several dates: One really good date does not ensure a new partner. Get to know the person more by going on more dates to see if you really connect. Also, the more dates you are asked on, the more you know your crush is interested in you.
- 3. You've shared your feelings: The amount of dates you go on can be an indication of your feelings for one another, but it's better to hear them so you know for sure. If you both admit you're really into each other, it's OK to step out in public. This will allow your relationship to grow.

Duchess Kate and Prince Harry: Is it Flirting?

By Jane Greer,

Ph.D. for GalTime

Relationships: When Does Flirting Cross The Line?

Catherine, Duchess of Cambridge, (formerly known as Kate Middleton) and her brother-in-law Prince Harry were recently caught by photographers exchanging “flirty” glances. The pictures were taken during the Diamond Jubilee celebrations in honor of Queen Elizabeth II. Standing with the royal family on that famous balcony, Kate and Harry swapped what appeared to be secretive smiles and a knowing laugh while William had his head turned. Only the media would peg this as possibly inappropriate flirting instead of the more likely scenario that Kate and Harry were just having a good time, as a brother-in-law and a sister-in-law often do. But it does raise a question that many people ask: when is it actually flirting? And to take that a step further, when does flirting cross the line?

The answer is that it depends. Flirting generally gets a bad rap, especially if you aren’t single, just as Kate’s smiling at someone other than her husband drew negative attention. But the truth is, whether you are unattached or committed to someone, putting yourself out there with a member of the opposite sex and making smart conversation helps you feel desirable and confident. It creates positive energy that can make you feel good about yourself.

Related: Chatting or Cheating? How to Tell

If you are already in a relationship, however, you have to make sure that you are both comfortable if either of you flirt with other people. One of my male patients, for example, became upset when his girlfriend would reach out and touch other men while joking with them in bars or at parties. When he asked her about it, she assured him that she is just a “touchy-feely” person and it meant nothing to her. But her boyfriend didn’t agree. From a guy’s point of view, he felt that the touching took the flirting to a different level. In their case, they had to set boundaries, which can be different for each couple, to make sure that whatever went on didn’t make them feel bad or doubt the other person’s feelings. Flirting definitely crosses the line when it becomes a sexual invitation to someone you are not in a relationship with.

If you are able to stay on the appropriate side of the line, though, then you can make sure all that heightened sexual energy is stored up for your partner with whom you will share it later. If your relationship is solid and you feel you are being given enough one-on-one time, then that generally works. Sometimes watching your partner flirt can give you a sense of pride. It can even be a turn on.

But if it makes you feel threatened, then it's a good idea to talk about how you are feeling in order to handle it. If the foundation of a relationship isn't strong, it can increase your feelings of doubt and mistrust. The person doing the flirting might feel good, but it can make the other partner feel insecure. If it seems that your partner is flirting with everyone but you, or you are flirting with everyone but them, then you might want to look at why that's happening and think about what's going on between the two of you.

Related: 5 Telltale Signs It's Time to Breakup

If that is the case, it is a good time to take stock and realize that rather than looking outward, you can focus your energy inward to work on strengthening your trust. You can do this by being affectionate, complimentary, and expressing your love toward each other. If you still feel uncomfortable with your partner's flirting with others, it can also help to set ground rules, as my patient was able to do with the no-touching rule. For someone else, a little conversation might be okay, but if it goes beyond that and someone offers or asks for a phone number, the answer is no.

Everyone has a different level of what they can tolerate in terms of their partner's socializing outside of their relationship. You don't want it to be divisive or take away from you as a unit. The goal is to be clear about what your partner's behaviors mean to them, and to make flirting work as a positive rather than a negative for your relationship. And there are times, of course, when people might just be being nice to each other. If William thinks Harry is making a move on Kate, then that would be a huge problem. As long as he trusts his brother and knows his marriage is solid and secure, Kate and Harry can smile and laugh all they want.
