What are some ways to deal with the loss of a loved one?

Cupid's Advice:

Death is a topic everyone tries to avoid, and yet it's something everyone has to deal with in their lifetime. It's a big, permanent change for those who were close to the deceased. It's having to know that someone who was once a part of your everyday life is no longer around, and they never will be again. This is a stressful time, and understandably so. You don't have to go through it alone, and there are plenty of ways to try and cope with the pain:

1. Remember the good times. Death is a sad occasion, but it is still possible to be happy. After all, your loved one wouldn't want you to suffer. Remember their lifetime instead of dwelling on their death, and keep those memories alive. Put together a scrapbook, or take a day to sit with friends or family and go through all of your memories of being with your loved one and how great it was having them around.

2. Surround yourself with caring people. Chances are you're not the only one dealing with the death of your loved one. Find others who were affected and come together to give each other support. It's better to remind yourself that you're not alone in this situation and to use this time to help others who are also hurting.

3. Do what feels right to you. Everyone handles death differently. Your friend might cope by keeping busy and moving on right away, while you might need to take some time to adjust to this loss. And that's okay! Cope with this the way you feel comfortable with, and don't pressure yourself to act differently or move on faster than you're ready to.

What are some ways to get over the death of a partner?

Cupid's Advice:

Losing someone you love is tough. It's natural to feel as though you'll never be able to share your heart with another person again, but eventually you'll have to move on and start to live your life. Nobody will ever take the place of the love you lost, but maybe you can make room for something completely different than what you had. Cupid is here to help:

1. Take you time: There's no pressure when it comes to how long it takes for you to grieve and get over your tragic loss. Don't rush the process just because you think that's what your late honey would want. He/she would want you to heal on your own time. Dating should be the last thing on your mind while you get yourself back together. If you're looking for a bit of company, spend more time with your family friends.

2. Distract yourself: Instead of letting yourself wallow in sadness, take up some new hobbies to help distract yourself from the pain. Start hiking, take a painting class, join a support group or show some interest in things that you used to before the tragedy happened. Anything you can do to take your mind off of what happened will help you in the long run.

3. Remember the good times: When you find yourself thinking about your late loved one, reminisce on all of the good times instead of the bad. Focusing on the positive of your relationship rather than the negative will help you with any feelings of guilt or resentment. It'll take some time, but you will get through this.

How do you avoid wedding chaos?

Cupid's Advice:

It seems that wedding chaos is inevitable if your family is the slightest bit dysfunctional. Any wedding malfunctions are common, even if it seems drastic and not normal. To keep the slight malfunctions from turning into complete chaos, you need a leader. A person to put everyone in line, to keep calm and organized. Cupid has some more advice on this:

1. Keep the bride calm: As much as men can say they have equal part involvement as the bride, they're wrong. Most women have been thinking about their wedding since they were young. They have been checking over the table arrangement, moisture of the cake, songs played at the reception....all since day 1. They know their wedding like the back of the hand, and if a slight problem occurs; the bride must remain calm.

2. Unwanted guests: At some wedding, unwanted guests may arise. Ex-husbands, old friends, abandoned family members; they all could pop in at any moment. With these unwanted guests showing up at your perfect wedding, chaos may loom. The best thing to do here is stay perfectly calm, and have a responsible and unbiased adult exit them out of the venue. No chaos if there are no unwanted guests.

3. Caterer/flowers: Check in with your caterer constantly days before your wedding. Make sure they have the right times, addresses, and menu. Chaos will emerge if there is no food at the wedding. The same thing goes along for flowers. It is necessary to keep in contact with your florist and be aware of what you ordered, how much you ordered, the colors, and anything else essential.

Why are men smitten for women who take care of them when they're sick?

Cupid's Advice:

Men can become big babies when they feel under the weather. From a small cold to a major health issue, they often cling to the women in their lives to care for them. The next time you feel overwhelmed or annoyed while looking after your sick partner, remember why he adores you as his private nurse:

1. He trusts you: Your man trusts you enough to put down his guard and act like a sick baby. Although it can be too much at times, remember how comfortable he is with you.

2. His mother: The truth is, your guy loves you to take care of him because his mother used to do it. Obviously he cares for you in a different way, as well, but men tend to be attracted to women who remind them of their mothers.

3. You stick by him: Even though being sick gets him a free pass to be immature and demanding, your partner is really able to see that you're in the relationship for the long run, through sickness and health.
