

Prince Harry Spotted With Ex-Girlfriend Chelsy Davy

Are Prince Harry and his ex-girlfriend, Chelsy Davy, back together? The former couple was spotted together in London on Saturday night in a private members club. According to People, the couple was seen at 4 a.m. climbing “into the trunk of a Jaguar to make a discreet getaway.” So, what do you guys think? Are they really back together or is this just a fling for now so that Prince Harry will have a date for his brother’s wedding?

Who should you bring to a family member’s wedding?

Cupid’s Advice:

If a family member’s wedding is approaching and you still don’t know who to take as your date, Cupid has some suggestions for you:

1. Girlfriend or Boyfriend: Have a significant other? Invite him or her to the wedding. This would be a great time for them to get acquainted with your family.

2. Best friend: If you're single, bring along the next best option – your best friend. She's met your family a gazillion times, and getting an invitation to the wedding will make her feel as if she's part of the family.

3. Acquaintance: And if you don't have a partner or a best friend, grab an outgoing and fun-loving acquaintance. This will be a great way for you to get to know each other even better. And of course, if you can't think of anyone, go alone. There will probably be other's there solo as well.