This celebrity news has us realizing there are some good ex relationships in Hollywood after all. What are three ways to show appreciation for your child's parent?

Cupid's Advice:

Staying friendly after a divorce is not an easy feat, but if you have children, it's ideal. Co-parenting makes everyone's lives easier, parents' and children' alike. There are many ways to show appreciation for the parent of your child:

1. Hold up your end: Some divorces result in more rules and regulations than others. However it plays out, be sure to fulfill your responsibilities. Contribute the money you're supposed to, and follow the schedule to a tee. Strictly sticking to the conditions of your divorce will show respect to the parent of your child, and prevent additional issues.

2. Do a favor: Parenting is difficult; that is a universal fact. If you see the parent of your child struggling with something and you're in a position where you can help out, do it. Doing a favor for the parent of your child will help everyone involved in the long run. Just because you're no longer married doesn't mean it is right to sit back and watch your ex flounder when you can help.

3. Say “thank you”: It’s basic, but it works. Thank the parent of your child for being on time, for being a good parent to your kid, and for trying. There is no easier way to show your appreciation than to thank them.
