There's another celebrity wedding in the works! What are some creative ways to announce your engagement to family and friends?

Cupid's Advice:

Engagement announcements have become increasingly popular in the last few years. If you wish to make yours stand out from the crowd, check out these announcement ideas. Cupid is here to make sure your engagement announcement will be memorable for years to come:

1. Get crafty: If you really want to exercise your creative muscle, you can make your own engagement announcement to share with everyone. Break out the construction paper and glitter, or make a photo collage that creates a timeline of your relationship. Do whatever craft you like best. No matter which you pick, everyone will see the love and care you put into your announcement.

2. Spread the news: This option isn't done as often as it used to be, but newspapers are a great way to share details on special events. Announcing your engagement through a newspaper is a nice way to inform the distant acquaintances in your life. This is a charming way to include colleagues, old classmates and even strangers on your special day.
