This celebrity news has us cringing a bit! What are some ways to let someone who is interested in you go?

Cupid's Advice:

It's always endearing to know that someone is interested in you. As flattering as it may be, there comes a time when you've got to let the person know that the feeling isn't mutual. No use putting it off. Cupid is here with some dating advice:

1. Remain unavailable: Before jumping into the full on "it's not you, it's me" convo, see if the person crushing on you can take a hint. When they text you, don't answer right away—and sometimes don't answer at all. Answering immediately and consistently usually conveys that you're interested, so doing the opposite may allow the person to catch on to your lukewarm feelings.

2. The other man: If the person pursuing you is someone you're friendly with or talk to regularly, get on the topic of relationships and try to casually mention another guy you're interested in. If you make it seem like you're confiding in this friend for advice on another guy or girl, they'll have to understand that your interest is elsewhere.

3. Be honest: As awkward as the conversation might be, being honest is the best way to go about it. Just telling the person, “Hey, it seems like you’re interested in me, but I’m not looking to date anyone” will clear up the whole situation. Being honest is also the best way to avoid hurting someone. Be honest, and remember—don’t apologize—you’re just not interested.
