This celebrity couple makes having a happily ever after seem simple. According to UsMagazine.com, after Ben Higgins finished his journey on The Bachelor, his fiancé Lauren Bushnell revealed where the couple is with planning their celebrity wedding and details about how she keeps the romance alive in their relationship. She said, "We haven't set a date. We have been throwing around some locations, and I think we've narrowed it down to the area that we want to get married. We're thinking 2017." After the cameras were put away and jetting off to different destinations around the world ended, Bushnell knew it was important to keep the romance alive. She said they both still appreciate small romantic gestures. "I've been getting up extra early and making him breakfast. I can tell that he really appreciates it, so getting up early, I'll have the coffee made, I put his mug out and I make him breakfast in the morning, and I'm not a morning person so that's, like, a big step for me."

This celebrity news has us swooning! What are some little things you can do for your partner that end up being a big deal?

Cupid's Advice:

Remembering to show your partner love and affection in little ways can be challenging. It can seem unimportant, but can actually strengthen your relationship, here's how to achieve this:

1. Pay attention: Spend a few days really paying attention to what your significant other is doing with their day. By learning more about the smaller details of your partner's life, it can make it easier to find little things to show your affection.

2. Change it up: Finding one romantic thing to do for your partner can become redundant. When something happens all the time, it loses the feel of being special and thought out. Try to switch up the little things that you do for your partner.
