

Tim Gunn

If you're going on a date and need fashion advice, find a way to contact Tim Gunn. The fashion consultant guru is one of the best men for any type of date night fashion tips. Gunn is best known for his work on Project Runway but he began his career at Parsons, The New School for Design, eventually becoming the chair of fashion after 18 years at the school. He served as chair of fashion from 2000 to 2007, when he was offered a job at Liz Claiborne as the company's chief creative officer. Following the success of Project Runway, Gunn starred in two shows that focused on his style decisions, Tim Gunn's Guide to Style and Under The Gunn. The TV star also wrote a book, A Guide to Quality, Taste and Style.

While Gunn may be great for fashion advice, relationship advice is not exactly his best subject. Following the abrupt end of a six-year relationship in the 1980s, Gunn has chosen to stay celibate, claiming that he still loves his former partner, although they are not in contact. However, this fact does not prevent him from staying happy and feeling fulfilled.