

Dating Advice: How To Handle a Bad Date?

On this week's episode of Single in Stilettos, founder and matchmaker Suzanne Oshima talks to relationship expert Jen Kelton to offer their best dating advice for those who have experienced disastrous dates. Learn how you should handle a bad date with the following dating tips!

Dating Advice That Will Help You Find Love Online

1. Go offline. Screen your potential date, especially if it's someone you've met online. Make a point to communicate with them offline, either through phone call, video chat, or text. From the conversations you have, evaluate whether it's a good idea to meet this person face-to-face.

2. Be polite. Make a graceful exit if you're having a bad date. You don't really know this person or what they're capable of, so don't make a scene. Just quietly run for the hills. You also want to be polite because you wouldn't appreciate it if someone was rude to you after a poor date. Be candid, don't waste their time.

3. Say something. If you're upset or uncomfortable with something that is going on during a date, bring it to their attention. Make sure you're not chastising your date, use humor if you have to- but don't sit there unsatisfied if your date is neglectful or rude. If they don't respect what you have to say, it's okay to remove yourself from the situation.
