Cupid’s Advice:

When it comes to famous celebrity couples, it’s great to see ones like Hadid and Malik who have officially achieved romantic bliss. But sometimes in relationships, things don’t go as smoothly. Here are Cupid’s top tips for dealing with an unhappy relationship in your own life:

1. Talk it out: First things first, prioritize communicating clearly with your partner. If there’s building resentment, frustration or some issue that’s become a roadblock to your happiness as a couple, sit them down and hash it out. It may be painful or angering in the moment, but ultimately it will do nothing but benefit your relationship and each other to know where both of you stand and that you’re both seeking resolution.

2. See a counselor: While many couples cringe when they think about sharing their problems with a relationship expert and therapist, there are many upsides to bringing an unbiased third party into your discussions. Try to see this not as a sign that your relationship is not going as planned, but that you and your partner are both committed to talking your feelings out in healthy and fair ways. If anything, it’s an indicator of how dedicated you both are to preserving your relationship, not the other way around.

3. Know when it's time to walk away: As painful as break-ups can be, there is nothing so painful as spending all your time trying to repair something that will simply never be truly fixed. If your partner isn't doing their share to deal with your issues as a couple or if you feel that they've permanently damaged your trust in them, don't be afraid to just say the words out loud; "It's not working." It may seem scary and sad in the moment, but ultimately you'll be happier on your own and eventually with someone else than you would be staying in a relationship that isn't meant for you.
