

Date Idea: Take Love Lessons from School

By Noelle Downey

School's almost in session, folks – it's time to brush up on your romantic education, too! You can have some date nights that your favorite teacher from grade school would be proud of, and that you'll have a blast on as well. Cupid's got you covered from A to Z!

Take a tip from your school lessons with these fun weekend date ideas # that will make studying a distant memory and love the first item on the assignment sheet!

1. Go Apple Picking: Looking for an apple so you can butter up your teacher? Do some apple picking! It's a fun and inexpensive way to get outdoors and walk home with a sweet treat... and maybe even snag a kiss amongst the apple branches.

Related Link: Date Idea: Take a Risk and Be Daring

2. Cheer at a High School Football Game: If sports are more your thing, head to a local high school football game. Get some buddies together and tailgate like it's the pros, and then head to the field to cheer on your true home team. After all, some high school games are an even bigger deal than the NFL, especially in small towns!

Related Link: Date Idea: Learn a New Sport Together

3. Read Something New Together: The best way to brush up on your school skills is to simply pick up a book. Join a co-ed book group, or make a date to read together in the park. Pack a picnic lunch and read on the grass.

Have a school days date idea of your own? Comment below, and share with our other readers. Hit the books!