Cupid's Advice:

Couples who are happy and have been together for years are often pressured to take the next step in their relationship. Whether that means getting married or having kids, here are some ways to deal with the burden of people stressing over the next step in your relationship:

1. Openly express what you and your partner think: When a question pops up about marriage or children, just let you and your partner be honest with the person. Make sure you and your partner first discuss the idea before spitting out the first thing that comes to your mind!

3. Ask about their experiences: Divert the attention off of your relationship by asking the person about their experience with marriage or having children. The person will most likely share their experiences, even if they were bad. This will make the person feel like they are giving you insight and post pone the focus on your relationship. If the person is not married or have children, just simply ask about their current lifestyles and see what they can share.
