During the interview Lutz had nothing but nice things to say about his beloved, stating, "she's the light of my life."

This celebrity wedding to be has officially been confirmed! What are some ways to keep your engagement on the down-low prior to announcing to family and friends?

Cupid's Advice:

Getting engaged is a big deal and a huge step in a relationship. The first people you want to tell are your family and friends, but before you do the news may get out. Here a few ways to keep your engagement on the down-low until you can tell those close to you:

1. Stay off social media: As tempting as it may be to share those adorable engagement photos, resist. The fastest and easiest way for news to spread is to put it online and your family is sure to find out. If you do have pictures or special moments you want to share on your profiles, wait until after you tell your family and friends.

2. Hide your ring: The most obvious tell tale sign of an engagement is your ring. Everybody knows that a diamond ring on your left finger has major significance to your relationship and they are bound to spill the news. Before you are ready to tell your family and friends the news, keep your ring out of the lime light. Afterward, however, show off your bling every chance you get. It's gorgeous!

3. Carry on: When you get engaged, it can be easy to dedicate your whole life to wedding planning. You're excited and you want to begin right away! However, those closest to you will notice right away if something has your full attention when it didn't before. So, after he pops the question, carry on with your life as if nothing has changed. If you don't give people a reason to question your life, they won't.
