There's officially a royal celebrity wedding in the works for Spring 2018! What are some ways to decide on the time of year you'll get married?

Cupid's Advice:

At some point, we've all thought about our dream wedding. What will you wear? How many people will watch you walk down the aisle? Will you walk barefoot in the sand at some destination wedding or will you keep it traditional? With all of these decisions, have you decided what time of year to celebrate the special occasion? Here's Cupid's relationship advice to help you plan your future wedding:

1. Your favorite season as a couple: Did the two of you meet in the spring and every blooming blossom reminds you of your love for each other? Or do you both absolutely adore the golden hues of autumn? Whatever the reason for your choice of season, find a time of year that makes you both happy. Remember, your wedding is for you.

2. Wedding photographs: Great photographs are all about lighting. When you think about what time of year to plan your wedding, think about how light changes throughout the year. If you're in the north wanting a winter wedding, besides the cold, you should consider that the sun sets very early compared to the rest of the year. Natural lighting is the best kind of lighting for photographs, so if you want the best pictures to remember the day by, take special consideration into when your wedding will be.

3. Invitation accommodations: When you're planning to have a lot of people come to your wedding, you have to consider other people's schedules. If you have a lot of family with children, September weddings may have to be nixed out of the planning because of school schedules. Consider the people you're inviting; if you want a lot of people to come then you need to choose a time most convenient for as many invitees as possible.
