Cupid's Advice:

The way to prepare your relationship for a child is for you and your partner to be in it together. You both must be on the same page. With that being said, Cupid has a few suggestions on how you both can prepare together for your child:

1. Learn about the birthing process and about life with a baby: You both can do research or read books, then discuss. Learning about the way your child will be born into the world and the things after is not something that's just for the mom who's carrying. This is something your partner should not stay behind on – they must learn it as well. It is important to know things like what to do during labor and what to expect after the baby is born.

2. Build the nursery together: Put both of your ideas together to create the perfect nursery. Both of you should have an input. Besides being productive by getting it done before the baby arrives, it can also be a bonding experience. You can also baby proof your home while you're at it.

3. Go over your finances: This is something you should definitely do together. Lack of money or shortage of money can hinder both a relationship and the way you're able to raise and accommodate your child. So, sit down with a pencil, paper, and calculator, and begin. Look through everything and see what you're dealing with. This is something that you guys can do more than once, since finances can change without warning and at anytime.
