Cupid's Advice:

Wilkinson isn't letting her recent divorce stop her from venturing out into the dating world. Here are Cupid's tips for meeting a new special someone:

1. Consult your friends: No one knows you better than your closest friends. They know your personality and what you're into. When you're ready to start dating again, confide in your friends and let them know. Your besties can help try to set you up with some dates with people they think you might work well with. Even if these dates don't work out, they are perfect warm-ups to get you ready for real contenders. If you end up clicking with someone you were set up with, it's even better!

2. Online dating: Yes, there might be some stigma around it, but online dating really is a great option for meeting a new partner. Whether it's through a website like Match.com or an app like Tinder, you'll be exposed to plenty of people you otherwise would never meet. You might have to get through some duds, but it's possible you could meet someone really special.

3. Actually go out: Putting setups and online dating aside, there's nothing better than meeting someone by the classic approach: getting yourself out there! Instead of spending a Friday night in watching romantic comedies on Netflix and dreaming of a new beau, put on something nice and go out to a bar, club or local joint with your friends. If partying isn't your thing, spend your newfound single time at a museum, concert, café or other social setting. If you're constantly around lots of people, you're bound to potentially run into that special someone.
