There may be a new celebrity couple in Hollywood! What are some ways to keep your budding relationship on the down-low?

Cupid's Advice:

When entering into a new relationship, your first instinct is to show off your new reason to smile. In a time where social media runs society, it may not be the best idea. Cupid has some advice on how to keep your budding relationship on the down-low, at least initially:

1. Stay off social media: Do yourself a favor and stay off of social media! Give the relationship a chance to grow naturally before bringing in outside forces. While people will always have something to say, staying off of social media cuts out all of the chatter that could potentially ruin this new found relationship.

2. Keep it to yourselves: This new relationship should just include you and the other person. Keeping things quiet can help build the strong foundation needed for a relationship. There is no need to bring any outsiders into what you two have started building; this will also keep your relationship on the down low. Why have everyone in your business from the very beginning?

3. Deny, deny, deny: While lying is generally considered wrong, if you both agree that you want to keep things private, denying you're in a relationship could be the solution. When seen together, you can explain that you're out as friends. Granted, at some point people won't believe you, but to keep things low key in the beginning, it may help.
