Cupid's Advice:

As exciting as weddings are, they are super stressful. Big or small, weddings are not only expensive, but time consuming. Cupid has some advice on how to make planning a wedding less stressful:

1. Set a date: You don't have to set the date the day you get engaged but discussing when you would like to get married helps. If you and your now fiancé want to wait a year or two, it helps you to build a time frame of when to things get done. Knowing the time of year and what year you would like to say "I do," will also help you with figuring out venues, receptions, as well as other arrangements.

2. Start early: Do yourself a favor and start early! While you don't have to start as soon as you get engaged, determining the time of year you would like to have your special day helps. You can start inquiring about different venues or even consult a wedding planner. Either way, make it easier for yourself and start early! Availability and estimates are important so you can piece things together and essentially be able to enjoy your special day the way you want.

3. Have fun: Remember, although you are planning your special day, enjoy yourself while doing it. Make a day where friends come over and help you plan. You don't have to do it alone. Besides, you can't possibly forget to plan the bachelor/bachelorette party! Take a day and check out venues with friends. Having friends and family around while you plan will for the most part keep the stress level down.
