She wants True to have a sibling."

In celebrity baby news, Khloe and Tristan are ready for another baby already. What are some ways to decide how many children to have?

Cupid's Advice:

In a lot of ways deciding to have another child can be even harder than deciding on having the first one. It's a bit more complicated now, but Cupid has some ways to decide how many children to have:

1. Think about timing: Ask yourself is it the right time to start trying again. Is mom ready? Because pregnancy and childbirth are stressful for a mother, even if everything goes right. Are you financially stable to provide for another child? How many children do you already have? Because one baby is expensive but a second is equally expensive.

2. Consider your family at this moment: Think about everything you've been through with the first child. Another child changes your family dynamic, it also challenges your relationship and routine you've already established. You have to question yourself and ask yourself what are you ready for and what is your family ready for?

3. Financial stability: As a parent, you already know how expensive having a child is. However, some expenses are lessened because you already have things from the last child. There's also the long-term things like daycare and schooling added on to your daily expenses. According to USDA estimates, two-parent households spend's 27% of their income on one child, as the children multiply: two children 41% and three 47%. It's a lot to consider. There are a lot of doubts and what ifs, but let your decision come from your heart.
