Cupid's Advice:

Everyone needs a vacation! Getting away from your typical day to day life can be a big stress reliever on your mind. It allows you to sit back and relax so you can focus on having a great time! Here are some of Cupid's tips on how getting away can help your relationship with your partner:

1. Mental health: If something is affecting your relationship and ultimately stressing you out, you need to take a break and step back. You can't have crucial conversations with your partner unless your head is in a good space. Taking a mental health break gives you time to relax before heading back into the real world to face the situation head-on.

2. Self-reflection: Taking a vacation just for you, not with your partner, will give you time to reflect on your relationship. Have you been pulling your weight in the relationship? Is there anything that is making you unhappy? What do you want to improve? Thinking about how you want your relationship to go from this point is vital, and addressing those points with your partner is key to getting your relationship on the same track.

3. You realize what is important: When you spend every second of every day with someone, little things that aren't important can really start to bug you. By spending some time apart, those minor, trivial things can float away, allowing you to focus on the positive aspects of your relationship.
