Cupid's Advice:

When you're expecting a child one of the hardest decisions to make can sometimes be coming up with a name you and your partner agree on. It's an important decision, and one you cannot change once it's been made. It can often mean compromises on both sides to come to an agreement. Cupid has some advice on ways to compromise with your partner on baby names:

1. Create a list: You and your partner can begin by each creating a list of baby names that you like. Compare your list and pick out any names you both put down. From there, you can work through the names each of you like to make your decision.

2. Family names: Family names can often be a sticking point when one of you has a name you are set on passing down to your child. If one of you has a family name you really want to use consider using it as a middle name as a compromise. This way the name gets incorporated without being the name used for your child every day.

3. Find a common theme: If you are having trouble narrowing down a name, start with coming up with a theme you both agree on. Maybe you both know you want a unique name, or you can agree you want your baby to have a traditional name. It isn't the final name but it is a good starting point that can help you get there and come up with a name you can both agree on.
