Cupid’s Advice:

As much as we love our partners, we won’t always see eye to eye. This becomes especially challenging when it comes to raising your children. If you need help deciding what values to teach your kids, Cupid has some advice for you:

1. Decide what’s important: Have a conversation with your partner. Decide what values are non-negotiable and what’s most important to actively teach your kids. Remember that your kids will model their behavior after your own, so not every lesson will be verbal!

2. Delegate “teachable moments”: While you should both be teaching your children values, one of you might have a stronger connection to a particular issue. If your partner has a personal experience that makes them passionate about a subject, you might want to take the backseat for those conversations.

3. Adapt your views: As your child (and you and your partner!) ages, what's most important to teach them will change. Outside forces, like experiences at school and current events, might require you and your partner to have discussions you hadn't planned on before. Flexibility is important to best teach your child in a changing world.
