By Diana Iscenko

In the latest celebrity news, Blake Shelton and Gwen Stefani released their new quarantine-inspired song, "Happy Anywhere." The pair sings in the chorus: "I'm running wide open / I was born with my feet in motion / But since I met you, I swear / I could be happy anywhere." This is the celebrity couple's second musical collaboration, previously releasing the country ballad "Nobody But You" in December 2019.

In celebrity couple news, Blake and Gwen collaborated on a new song. What are some ways to share your passions with the one you love?

Cupid's Advice:

We may not all work in the same industry as our partner, but that doesn't mean you can't share your hobbies with them! If you're looking for a way to get your partner more involved with your interests, Cupid has some advice for you.

1. Swap interests: When asking your partner to try something you're interested in, offer to try one of their hobbies, too. Committing to trying something they like will motivate them if they're initially hesitant to try something you like.

2. Make it a date: Make a night of doing the activity you're passionate about. It'll be more fun to enjoy this experience together, instead of you teaching your partner about it for the night. Try to get on equal footing and have fun with your partner.

3. Give them a way out: Make it easier for your partner to say yes to trying something new. Instead of planning an intense day-long activity, do something with a built-in out so you're partner feels comfortable quitting if they aren't enjoying it. Start small and work up to more intensive days.
