Cupid's Advice:

Breaking up with your partner can be one of the most difficult conversations to have. However, just because the conversation is challenging does not mean it's okay to go about ending the relationship without consulting your partner. If you are looking for the best ways to go about breaking things off with your partner, Cupid has some advice for you:

1. Address the issues: Before you even get to the point of breaking up, it is important to discuss the issues you are having within the relationship with your partner. Try to find any last minute areas of compromise before you decide that the relationship is officially over. If the issues that the two of you are facing appear to be unrepairable, then continue forward with the split.

2. Privately and in-person: Even though a relationship is failing and there may be some ill-feelings between you and your partner, it is still important to respect the other person throughout the process. One of the main ways to show respect is to go about the break-up in a private setting and preferably in person. If distance is an issue, try to make the conversation as personable as possible by making a phone call rather than sending a text.

3. Listen to their requests: After a break-up, there are often new boundaries that need to be established between you and your ex. Take some time after the break-up to establish what kind of relationship the two of you will have moving forward. While one of you may wish to remain friends, the other may need some time without any contact to process this new change before agreeing to an ongoing relationship of any kind.
