Cupid's Advice:

Sometimes it can be tricky to tell where a relationship is going at the beginning stages. If you're having trouble defining your relationship with your new partner, Cupid has some advice for you:

1. Express your desires: If you and your new partner are struggling to define your relationship, it's important to be vocal about what you want and need from each other. Having an open and honest conversation will help the two of you stay on the same page.

2. Don't be afraid to take it slow: If you are struggling to define your relationship, it's totally okay to keep going slow. Taking some more time to define your relationship may mean spending some more time together and waiting a little longer to decide where the relationship is going.

3. Go with your gut: The most important part of defining a relationship is to simply do what feels right. If you're not ready for a definition, or if you're not concerned with sticking a label on your relationship, keep doing what feels the most natural and comfortable for you. Do what makes you happy and worry about defining the relationship later.
