

Travel Tips: Fun Things to Do While Visiting Grafton, Illinois

Grafton is recognized for its all-encompassing views and lively city Centre. It is situated at the convergence of two great rivers in the United States namely the Illinois River and Mississippi River.

It originated as a river community. Thus, mills, quarries, and construction of boats were part of its early industrial practices. During the 1960s, it even housed a facility that mainly produced boats.

This breathtaking place is home to a local prized winegrower, water park along a river, an indoor ice rink in the banks of the river of Mississippi, and a zipline haven.
