Cupid's Advice:

One of the hardest things to deal with in a break-up is letting go of some of the physical reminders of your relationship. If you are looking for some physical ways you can cope with a break-up, Cupid has some advice for you:

1. Lose the jewelry: Whether it's an engagement ring or a necklace, taking off any jewelry that was given to you by your ex is a good first step in removing physical reminders of your break-up. This will also give others the clue that your relationship has ended without you necessarily needing to tell everyone verbally. After some time has passed, you can decide what to do with the jewelry long-term.

2. Clean your social media: In the modern age, nearly everyone in a relationship has shared some pictures with their partner on social media. Another physical way of coping with a break-up is to clear that person from your field. This can include archiving pictures of you two together, removing tags from past photos, and muting or unfollowing your ex's account.

3. Put away past gifts: While you may have a sentimental attachment to some of the gifts your ex has given you in the past, it is a good idea to remove these gifts from view. Just like with jewelry, placing the gifts you've received in a box and putting them away for a while can help take your mind off the break-up. Once your emotions have settled, then you can decide what to keep, return, and get rid of.
