Nowadays, a person's cell phone is a survival essential. We take it with us to work, on dates and even on a quick trip to the grocery store. It's simply with us wherever we go. While these devices can be extremely useful and versatile, they have such a plain and boring exterior. If you're carrying your phone around with you every day or taking it out on the town at night, shouldn't it be just as fashionable as you? Of course it should! And, fashion designers think so too because they just teamed up with Power Support to bring you a beautiful line of flirty, chic, and super stylish air jackets that give pizzazz to your digital BFF. Their designs will add flair to any outfit, making your phone the perfect accessory.

Three designers have contributed to this artful collection: Rory Beca, Rachel Pally and Amy Smilovi, the designer and founder of Tibi.

"My iPhone has become my most coveted accessory. I'm thrilled that our new cover designs add a stylish fashion element," says Smilovi.

The designer cases (otherwise known as air jackets) are reasonably priced at $54.95 plus shipping and handling. Isn't it time for something new? These covers will definitely stand out among the outdated gaudy bejeweled cases. And lucky for us, we can chose the look from designers who know how to dress the best stars in Hollywood.
