

Rumor: Did Prince William Give Kate a Puppy for Her Birthday?

It looks as if the Duke and Duchess of Cambridge have added an adorable black Labrador to their royal court. According to the People, the two were seen with a new puppy on a romantic stroll in North Wales. It had been rumored that Prince William was getting his new bride a dog for Christmas. Around the New Year, Will and Kate were seen playing with a few dogs at the Middleton home in Bucklebury, Berkshire. Later, speculation rose that the recently spotted puppy had been a gift for Kate Middleton's 30th birthday, which was celebrated with a low-key private party.

What are the advantages of giving your partner the gift of a pet?

Cupid's Advice:

There are many advantages to giving your partner a pet, but only do so if you know for sure that both of you are ready for the responsibility. Cupid has a few ways that a pet can bring joy to you and your partner:

- 1. Pets are cute and cuddly: Pets bring people so much joy, and there's nothing better than sharing that joy with someone you love.
- 2. Responsibility: Having a pet is a huge responsibility that can prepare you and your partner for sharing the responsibility of children one day.
- 3. Sharing the love: When you share the adoration and love for an animal with your partner, it can bring you closer together.

What kind of a pet do you want to share with your partner?
Share your ideas below.