If your partner passes away, how do you know when to move on?

Cupid's Advice:

Dealing with the death of a loved one is never easy, especially when you're dealing with the passing of your spouse. However, there a comes a time when you have to move on and find happiness again. Here are few signs you're ready:

1. You shut yourself out from the world: The inside of your house hasn't had any sun beaming through its windows, you rarely answer your phone and the grass on your lawn is now passed knee length, leaving people to wonder if anyone lives at your house anymore. The situation is tough, but shutting yourself out from the world only makes it worse. You still have to live your life, and while moving on may take some time, you have to get yourself back into the swing of things.

2. Acceptance: You begin to accept the loss of your spouse when you start replacing their physical presence with memories of them. And while the grieving process is unique to individuals, you can slowly begin to enter back into the dating scene when you feel comfortable.

3. You find comfort in a potential partner: When you find someone who shows you unconditional love by being patient and understanding of what you've experienced, that may be just what you need in your life.
