When is it time to step out in public as a couple?

Cupid's Advice:

You may be happy with your new special someone, but taking it outside of your comfort zone can be bewildering. Doing so too soon can break your already fragile and new relationship, but stepping it up too late can make others question why you kept it a secret for so long. Here's how to find the balance:

1. You've both acknowledged monogamy: Anyone can go on a couple of dates and think they've found "the one," but the truth is: some people are serial daters. If you both agree that it's going to be exclusive, then you can step out as a couple. But, if there's no monogamy, then there should be no publicity.

2. You've been on several dates: One really good date does not ensure a new partner. Get to know the person more by going on more dates to see if you really connect. Also, the more dates you are asked on, the more you know your crush is interested in you.

3. You've shared your feelings: The amount of dates you go on can be an indication of your feelings for one another, but it's better to hear them so you know for sure. If you both admit you're really into each other, it's OK to step out in public. This will allow your relationship to grow.
