What do you prepare for differently when you're expecting a third child?

Cupid's Advice:

One child, two children, three children...your brood is growing, so here are some tips on how to prepare for your next baby:

1. Use hand-me-downs: You're an expert at baby rearing by now and there are probably tons of old clothes from your other kids lying around the house. It's time to reuse the old baby clothes and equipment.

2. Reflect on your parenting style: Now is the time to reflect on what you want to do the same with your third child as you did with the others. If there is something that you want to do differently, discuss it with your partner.

3. Prepare your kids: Two's a party, but three's a crowd so be sure to prepare your kids for the newest addition of the family. Be open with them and discuss some of the changes that they should be expecting.
