Spring is right around the corner, so you know what that means: time to set your toes free! We've spent the last few months with our feet trapped inside of boots, and it's finally time to give them some wiggle room. From strappy sandals to pumps or wedges, the warm weather shoe options are endless. But does looking good mean we have to sacrifice our comfort? Not anymore, thanks to TSUBO shoes.

TSUBO, Japanese for "pressure point," designs shoes that are fashion forward and extremely comfortable. Their shoes combine fresh style with their signature Pod technology, which is strategically placed cushioning at the foot's pressure points.

One of our favorite picks from their Spring 2013 collection are the Sallis wedges. You can wear these cute shoes at the office during the day and then head straight to that date with your cute neighbor. You're ready to tackle the world while looking and feeling great! These wedges are available in three wonderful colors, sure to cover all of your fashion needs: black, elephant and putty. Plus, the back zipper adds an extra hint of sexy and makes it easy to slip them off at the end of a fun evening.

The Sallis wedges are a hybrid "shootie," and they're a perfect accessory that blends fashion with function. These four-inch demi-wedge heels are made from latex foam for soft comfort and cushioning with additional latex foam pods at the forefoot and heel pressure points – sure to keep your feet happy.

Now, one lucky CupidsPulse.com reader will have the opportunity to win a pair of their very own TSUBO Sallis wedges, valued at $180.00 dollars. With these beauties, you'll be putting your best foot forward, both comfortably and fashionably.
